Dulles And Chiang Review Political, Military Situation

Reds Continue Quemoy Attack, Planes Tangle

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and President Chiang Kai-shek Tuesday opened talks made more urgent by rising Red military action across Formosa Strait.

While Red artillery rained more than 3,000 shells on Quemoy and jets tangled over the strait, Dulles and Chiang held three meetings totaling more than 3½ hours. They met again Wednesday.

A spokesman said the whole political and military situation was reviewed. In reply to a question, he said it was possible the two had discussed a resumption of U.S. warship convoys for supply ships to Quemoy.

A joint communique after the end of the conference is expected to express continued U.S.-Nationalist solidarity in the face of Peiping's campaign to split the two allies and force U.S. armed might out of the western Pacific.

Common Policy Required
What Dulles called his search for a dependable cease-fire requires a common U.S.-Nationalist policy. This might include the U.S. desire that Chiang thin his forces on the off-shore islands in the hope Red China would accept a permanent cease-fire.

Joseph Greene, spokesman for Dulles, said emphatically: "Mr. Dulles is not here to twist anybody's arm or apply any heat or pressure."

He called the first conference a "stock-taking . . . with an assessment of political and military matters as well as Communist propaganda."

There was a growing feeling on Formosa that the end of the cease-fire had made it impractical to go into topics Dulles had planned halfway around the world to take up with Chiang.

Difficult Topics
Green said, however, the resumption of Red shelling "does not mean the mission or objective" of Dulles's visit has been changed.

Without a better idea of Red China's latest intentions, some topics appeared too difficult to discuss. This includes the question of reducing casualties on Quemoy in an attempt to coax Red China to make its cease-fire permanent.

There is a belief the Reds will keep up the pounding on the same scale as before their cease-fire that went into effect Oct. 6. But it is considered possible they may give the islands one more big wallop while Dulles is on Formosa.

Another possibility is that they may proclaim a new cease-fire, accompanying it with a fresh invitation for direct talks with the Nationalists. The Nationalists have steadfastly refused to talk with the Peiping regime.

Four U.S. Destroyers Damaged By Storm

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Four destroyers were damaged at sea Tuesday in a severe storm now reported southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C.

No injuries among personnel were reported by Atlantic Fleet Headquarters. The destroyers were the Rich, Ellison, Moale and Sumner.

Polio Drops In USSR

MOSCOW (AP)—The newspaper Medical Worker said Tuesday that Salk-type antipolio vaccine produced in the Soviet Union has been given 1,400,000 youngsters since inoculations began in April 1957.

The paper said the inoculations have cut polio 67 to 75 per cent among those vaccinated, compared with those who did not receive vaccine.

Pickets Turn Out For Ike

President Eisenhower was greeted by pickets as he waved from car after speaking at San Francisco's Civic Auditorium yesterday in behalf of the Quemoyans seeking office in the November election. The pickets carried signs such as "No More Quemoyans" and "Don't Fight Chiang's War." A member described the pickets as loosely-knit group devoted to ending atomic testing. Its goals were expanded, the member added, to include other issues such as Formosa.

Four Workers Die In Powder Company Blast

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—An explosion killed four men and injured two others today at the Mount Braddock plant of the Liberty Powder Co. The blast shattered glass windows and shook buildings miles away.

Plant Manager W. C. Crosby said the explosion occurred in a gelatin pack house where dynamite is readied for shipment. The 30 by 30 foot structure, isolated from other plants buildings, was destroyed.

The plant, a division of the Olin Mathieson Co., manufactures TNT and other commercial explosives used in mines.

Mount Braddock is about 60 miles south of Pittsburgh.

Crosby said fire broke out following the blast and threatened other powder installations for a time until it was brought under control about an hour later.

The dead were identified as Leonard McGee, 39, of Morrell; John P. Holub, 35, of Dunbar; Robert Trimbath, 49, of Dunbar; and Lenn Burns, 41, of Uniontown.

John Morris, 41, of Uniontown RFD 1, and David Caffey, 27, of Footedale, were treated at Uniontown Hospital and released.

Crosby said about 125 men were at the plant.

Cyprus Violence

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—A British soldier was killed and four others were wounded Tuesday by rebel mines and bombs in scattered attacks across the island.

One Greek Cypriot was wounded in a clash with security forces.

Crazed Cop Who Slew Four Dies

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 36-year-old patrolman died in a hospital Tuesday without telling why he killed four men with a burst of gunfire in a Broadway restaurant early Sunday.

James McDermott, married and the father of four, was shot five times by fellow officers in a running gun battle. He died without regaining consciousness.

Police have been unable to come up with a solid motive in the case. Two detectives had remained at McDermott's bedside in the hope that he could be questioned.

Inspector Frederick Lussen said that the investigation so far has indicated the shootings were an "impetuous act."

Plane Ditched, Five Rescued

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A single engine Navy plane ditched in the wind-swept Chesapeake Bay off Cape Henry Tuesday. The Coast Guard said its five crewmen were picked up in boats after clinging to a one-man life raft.

The Coast Guard said the AD5 Skyraider, based at Chincoteague on Virginia's Eastern Shore, ditched 14 miles north of Cape Henry in eight foot seas. Winds were about 40 m. p. h.

The flight plan listed the crewmen as Cmdr. J. E. Braun, Lt. L. Addicot and B. L. Bose, CS2 D. B. Stone and AT2 W. P. McDonald.

Braun is commander of Guided Missile Squadron No. 2 at Chincoteague.

Belief Mounts Elderly Italian To Head Church

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A conviction grew in Rome Tuesday that the next Pope will come from the ranks of the elderly, conservative Italian members of the College of Cardinals.

Almost all the members of the college now are at the Vatican or nearby, and they are in a position to engage in a steady exchange of ideas before they begin voting Saturday on a successor to Pius XII.

There is little doubt that among them there will be cautious soundings of opinion on what sort of man the 262nd pontiff should be.

More and more, talk is heard among qualified observers of a "transition Pope." Such a man would continue the policies of Pius XII but would be unlikely to introduce any startling precedents.

Fifty-two of the church's 54 princes probably will be taking part in the conclave. Their combined age totals 3,795 years, and their average age is 73. Most are over 70, and in this conclave youth—relative youth—may work against a candidate. This is particularly true if the church actually is in quest of a transition period.

The idea that there is a possibility of a non-Italian pontiff apparently fascinates Italians. There has been no non-Italian Pope for 436 years. But the chances now seem against electing one.

Most mentioned as a non-Italian "papabile" — possibility for election as Pope—has been Gregory Peter XV Cardinal Agagianian, Patriarch of Cilicia of the Armenians. But, as the ages of cardinals go, he is young—only 63.

Youth, too, could react against the choice of the man some believe Pius XII had favored — his successor, only 52, Giuseppe Cardinal Siri, Archbishop of Genoa, could have a long reign as pontiff. But in comparison with the other cardinals, he could hardly be considered a transition figure.

The idea of the man Pius XII chose, said many observers here, perhaps will be between 65 and 75, or perhaps older. Among cardinals in this category are Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro, 66, Archbishop of Bologna; Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, 67, pro-secretary of the Consistorial Congregation; Ernesto Cardinal Ruffini, 70, Archbishop of Palermo; and Valerio Cardinal Valeri, prefect of the Congregation for the Religious Orders.

2 Americans Abducted By Cuban Rebels

7 Other Refinery Workers Carried Off Into Mountains

HAVANA (AP)—Two American and seven Cuban employees of a Texaco refinery were kidnaped Monday and carried off to the rebels' jungle mountain strongholds of eastern Cuba.

The U.S. Embassy disclosed the seizure of the nine Tuesday during efforts to liberate the American citizens.

The abductions near Santiago were in the same rugged area where 50 U.S. sailors and Marines and employees of North American mining companies were seized last June. All these eventually were released singly and in groups through efforts of American consuls who plunged into the wilderness to negotiate.

Castros Dominate Area
The area is dominated by the rebel brother leaders Fidel and Raul Castro. They have long sought to overthrow the Batista government and dramatize their battle with spectacular kidnappings, hit-run raids and other devices.

Texaco identified the two Americans seized as:

Charles R. Bennett, 35, born in Guatemala of U.S. parents, whose mother lives in Panama. His wife and year-old son are in Santiago. Stationed there since April, 1955, he is supervisor of maintenance and construction, and a graduate of the University of California.

Phone Lines Blown Up
Kenneth H. Brown, 40, Joliet, Ill., machine shop foreman at Santiago since Jan. 1957, and formerly employed at the company's Lockport, Ill., plant. His wife is in Santiago. They have no children.

The Santiago plant has a capacity of 20,000 barrels daily.

Telephone communications with Santiago and the rest of Oriente Province were interrupted. Rebels blew up telephone poles over a three-mile stretch.

The U.S. Embassy in Havana said an armed group of rebels seized the nine men near the Santiago refinery around noon. It added the American consulate in Santiago is trying to obtain the release of the two Americans.

Truman Sees Demo Landslide

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman predicted Tuesday night the Nov. 4 elections will see the biggest Democratic landslide "since Franklin Roosevelt drove the money-changers out of the temple in 1932."

In a speech at a Democratic rally here, Truman had a word of caution for Democratic candidates.

"We must not get 'Dewey-itis' or overconfidence," he said. "That's what the Republicans had in 1948 and we don't want it. We are counting on Pennsylvania to lead the nation to a Democratic victory next month."

The former chief executive said he was neither a pollster nor a prophet. "But I can tell you there is a Democratic tide running all across the country."

"Everywhere, I have found the Democrats hard at work and enthusiastic. Everywhere, I have found the Republicans gloomy and down in the dumps," he added.

"Unless I am badly mistaken, we are going to have the biggest Democratic landslide since Franklin Roosevelt . . ." he said.

Preacher No Longer Faces Kidnap Charge

SEVIERVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—A divorced former Baptist preacher was held for grand jury action Tuesday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor after he testified 11-year-old bride kissed her in home while he helped her wash the dishes.

The state failed to make a kidnapping charge stick against George Washington Rollins, 33, accused of taking petite brunette Frieda Ogle to Gettysburg, Pa., to be married.

The balding Rollins, father of five children, did not take the stand in his own defense. Earl Ogle Jr., father of the would-be bride, swore out the kidnapping warrant but agreed to the lesser charge against Rollins.

Frieda, who became 12 years old Tuesday, took the stand to tell county judge Roy Reagan of her "courtship" with Rollins.

Sergeant Guilty Of Mistreating Army Recruits

ROYAL VISITOR — Queen Frederika of Greece came to a smile and a wave for greeters on her arrival in New York aboard the French liner Ile de France for an official six-week visit to the U. S. With the 41-year-old queen were Crown Prince Constantine, 18, and Princess Sophie, 20.

Little Rock's School Plan Off To Shaky Start

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—At best, Little Rock's venture into a private school program, to replace integrated public schools, got off to a faltering start Tuesday.

About 300 white seniors reported for the Little Rock Private School Corp.'s first day of segregated classes. After about two hours, they were told to go home and come back Wednesday.

Corporation officials explained that "there had been a mixup in registration" Monday.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus told a news conference that he did not think the private school could exist indefinitely on contributions alone.

"I don't anticipate that we will have to depend on the contributions indefinitely," he added.

The governor said the next regular session of the State Legislature, in January, "would come up with something." Faubus did not say what that "something" might be.

Faubus reiterated that he did not believe he has authority under present state law to reopen Little Rock's four public high schools, which he closed to avoid court-decreed integration.

In answer to a question, the governor agreed that a private school program should be started for Negro high school students.

He gave no indication that he personally would launch such a move and, instead, suggested that the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People should take the lead.

The organization, thereby, would be "giving up to its name," Faubus remarked.

The NAACP, however, has indicated that its next move will be to challenge the private white schools in court.

The corporation restricted its first classes to seniors "to get them ready for college" and because its classroom space and number of teachers were limited.

Two Bomarc's Fired In Rapid Succession

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Two blazing Bomarc air defense missiles roared across the Atlantic within 13 seconds Tuesday, triggered by a button pusher and a giant electronic computer, 1,500 miles away.

The Bomarc double-header was the first multiple missile launching at the Cape since it opened eight years ago.

In rapid succession, one sleek Bomarc streaked aloft with a flash of red flame. Just as it disappeared in the clouds, the second missile nearby ignited and also bolted into the overcast Florida sky.

Spurt Continuing Production Regains 75% Of Recession Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower's top economic advisers reported Tuesday that the nation's production of goods and services bounced back three-fourths of the way from the recession low during the third quarter of the year.

Top government economists now believe that national output will reach an all-time record annual rate of 430 billion dollars in the last three months of 1958.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers reported that gross national product (GNP)—which includes all goods and services—reached an annual rate of 440 billion dollars in the July-August-September period. This was nearly 15 billion dollars higher than the recession low hit in the first quarter.

It meant that about three-fourths of the production slow-down of the recession had been made up. But it was still more than five billion dollars below the all-time high during the boom months of July-September, 1957, just before the recession began.

Sovie, Convicted On 5 Counts, Gets Light Sentence

FT. JACKSON, S. C. (UPI)—A general court martial convicted a combat-hardened master sergeant Monday of making his men eat $1 bills and submit to other indignities. The sergeant was stripped of one of his stripes and fined $450.

The court of five officers and three master sergeants deliberated an hour and 45 minutes before passing the relatively light sentence on M. Sgt. George R. Sovie of Ogdensburg, N. Y. He could have received 4½ years at hard labor, a dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

Instead, he was ordered reduced to sergeant first class, one grade below master sergeant, and to forfeit $75 per month of his pay for six months.

Subject To Review
Two hours before sentence was passed, the court headed by Col. John R. Smoak of Orangeburg, S. C., convicted Sovie of five of seven specifications following two hours and 45 minutes of deliberation.

Both the conviction and sentence are subject to review by Fort Jackson's commanding general and higher authorities.

Sovie had been a master sergeant for eight of his 13 years in the army. He was a combat veteran of the Korean conflict where he earned the Bronze Star and Purple Heart.

He stood stiffly erect as the sentence was read, saluted smartly, did an about face and marched from the room, breaking into smiles of relief over the light sentence as he reached the ante-room.

Wife Joins Demonstration
There he was surrounded by cadremen from his old company who slapped him on the back and noisily demonstrated their pleasure at the lightness of the sentence.

Sovie's attractive 29-year-old wife enthusiastically joined the group. They have four children. Sovie was acquitted of a charge that he kicked a recruit in the leg and that he forced six recruits to hold foot lockers over their heads as punishment.

But he was convicted of ordering a recruit dunked head first into a mess hall grease trap as punishment; of ordering another recruit to pour a can of grease into his pocket; and of ordering two trainees to tear up and eat $1 bills as punishment.

Sovie was also convicted of forcing a recruit to hold a duffel bag in his teeth and of stamping on another's foot.

Scheduled Nevada A-Blast Postponed

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (UPI)—The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) abruptly called off a scheduled nuclear detonation over Yucca Flat for "technical reasons" Tuesday afternoon.

Everyone at the control point was warned to "face away" from the shot area, but the AEC released a brief statement indicating the postponement. Personnel were sent to the scene for further investigation, when the AEC confirmed there was no emergency condition.

President Eisenhower had gotten Knight and Knowland together Monday night in Los Angeles, where he made a speech calling for an end to intraparty bickering.

Knowland was aboard the Columbine III Tuesday, too, but was in another compartment when Knight talked to reporters.

Ike Calls For Labor Cleanup
Knight was an avowed candidate for re-election until Knowland announced for governor. Then Knight was forced to run for the Senate seat which Knowland is vacating. Both won the Republican nominations handily but trailed their Democratic opponents in total primary votes.

They also have split over the controversial "right-to-work" initiative, which Knowland espouses but Knight opposes.

The President Tuesday hit the labor topic hard, accusing the Democrats of scuttling his labor cleanup program in the last Congress, but sticking to his position that "right-to-work" is a state issue, not national. He said only the election of such Republicans as Knowland and Knight could protect the rights of union members and stave off what he called the trend toward "centralized bureaucracy."

Flying into the San Francisco Airport, Eisenhower took a 12-mile helicopter ride to the city, circling over the Cow Palace where he was nominated in 1956.

President Appeals To Women
Landing at the Marina Green, he motored to Civic Auditorium. There, an off-the-cuff regional television forum with 22 Republican women, the President charged the Democratic administration of Harry Truman with "ignoring the ballistic missile program."

Answering questions, he urged women to help him fight high government spending, which he blamed for high living costs, and said he thought the prospects of peace in the Orient look better than they have for a long time.

President Charges Democrats Scuttled Labor Cleanup Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—President Eisenhower assailed the Democrats in two bare-knuckled GOP campaign talks Tuesday, but his flying trip to California apparently failed to patch up the split between Gov. Goodwin J. Knight and Sen. William F. Knowland, Republicans running for each other's office.

Flying from Los Angeles in the President's plane, Columbine III, Gov. Knight told newsmen aboard that "nothing has changed" between himself and Knowland.

The governor reiterated he would never support the Democratic nominee for governor, State Atty. Gen. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, but shrugged and walked away when reporters asked if he would vote for Knowland for governor.

Eisenhower had gotten Knight and Knowland together Monday night in Los Angeles, where he made a speech calling for an end to intraparty bickering.

Knowland was aboard the Columbine III Tuesday, too, but was in another compartment when Knight talked to reporters.

Answering questions, he urged women to help him fight high government spending, which he blamed for high living costs, and said he thought the prospects of peace in the Orient look better than they have for a long time.

Stepping across the main auditorium, Eisenhower then addressed an estimated 5,400 Republican precinct workers. He told them any leadership corruption in labor unions "must be fumi-gated."

He blamed the Democratic-controlled 85th Congress for scuttling his labor cleanup program and accused the Democrats of fostering a dangerous drift toward too-big government.

Again he urged election of Knight and Knowland.

On conclusion of his speech, the President motored back to the helicopter, flew to the airport and took off for Chicago. He is to make a nationally televised speech there Wednesday night.

Nixon Holds Out Olive Branch To Democratic "Moderates"

Charges "Radical" Demos' Policies Could Lead To War

BALTIMORE (AP)—Vice President Nixon offered an olive branch Tuesday night to Democratic "moderates" who support President Eisenhower's foreign policies.

But he said the Republicans will meet attacks from the opposition party's "radicals" by strong talk about the "weakness and vacillation of the previous administration in this field."

Contrasting the foreign policies of Eisenhower and of former President Truman, Nixon told a cheering crowd of 1,600 persons in the Pikesville Armory that "a weak policy is a war policy, a firm policy is a peace policy."

As a possible indication of Republican fortunes in this swing state former President Truman drew a crowd of 2,100 in the same hall last month.

Nixon, often accused by Truman and other Democrats of adopting unfair campaign tactics, went out of his way to say he doesn't question "the sincerity or patriotism of those who criticize our policies."

"There is no war party in the United States," he said. "All Americans want peace. There is no party of surrender in the United States. All Americans cherish our independence and freedom."

Nixon pointed to Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) as a "notable example of the Democratic 'moderates'" he said had supported the administration's foreign policies.

He picked on Dean Acheson, former Secretary of State, as an example of the "radicals" he said had been "bitterly partisan" in their criticisms of Eisenhower's actions.

The vice president urged support of Maryland Republican candidates after a noon swing into Wilmington, Del., and a televised news conference at which he said he does not believe the resumption of the Communist bombardment of Quemoy will have any major political effect.

"We are proud of the fact that many Democrats, of which (sic) Lyndon Johnson is a notable example, have supported the Eisenhower foreign policy," he said.

Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, said in a campaign speech in Tennessee yesterday that with President Eisenhower, Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles giving different versions, it is difficult to tell what administration policy is. But he said Democrats will not participate in dividing this country in the face of a foreign aggressor."

Nixon said he distinguishes between Democrats of the Johnson type and "the leadership which presently controls the Democratic National Committee which is radical in its approach to economic problems and, as the recent statement of the Democratic Advisory Committee indicates, is bitterly partisan in its criticism of the Eisenhower foreign policy."

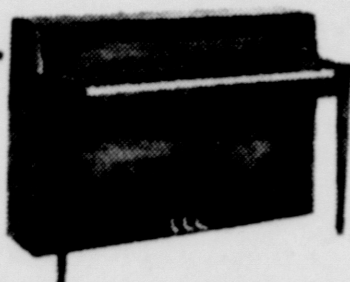

Nixon told a televised news conference he does not believe the communists' resumption of their bombardment of Quemoy will affect the election outcome.

Two Arrested In 1954 Slaying Of Bobby-Soxer

BALTIMORE (AP) — In a renewed burst of investigation, police Tuesday arrested two men and quizzed a third in prison about the savage murder four years ago of bobby-soxer Carolyn Wasilewski.

The 14-year-old girl's battered partly-nude body was found on some railroad tracks on Nov. 9, 1954 but police believe she was killed in a field 10 miles away.

Police said the new lead "definitely has possibilities."

The two men held in Baltimore, both 22, were picked up at their homes before dawn.

Police said an inmate at the State Reformatory for Males near Hagerstown, also was questioned.

Still sought was an automobile allegedly owned by one of the men picked up in Baltimore. Police said they have been unable to trace it through Department of Motor Vehicle files to a sale or junking.

The man said to own it was given a lie-detector test Tuesday. He was described as a pants presser and part time jazz musician. The other man held is a laborer.

Captain Frank Battaglia said "we don't want to be too optimistic, but it definitely has possibilities."

Police said both men in custody had been questioned previously about the murder. Investigators said both have criminal records. One is married.

The girl's body was found sprawled on Pennsylvania Railroad tracks in North Baltimore. Her skull, jaw and one finger were broken and she had numerous cuts and bruises.

Sputnik III Rocket Visible In Maryland

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The rocket of Sputnik III makes a pass over the central part of the country Wednesday morning and will be theoretically visible to virtually the entire United States.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory points out, however, that cloudy weather and the low angle from the far east and west will make it difficult to spot the Soviet moonlet.

The Smithsonian listed five passes for the rocket Wednesday morning. It will cross the country in a north northwest to south southeast direction about 575 miles high.

The second: 4:36 to 4:51 a.m., pass, from 5:36 to 5:51 a.m. (EDT) will cross from eastern Canada to Alabama, visible to eastern half of nation, including Maryland.

Kaylor Hits Park Prison Camp Plan

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A dispute developed among state officials Tuesday over the use of Sandy Point State Park, Maryland's only public seaside resort, as a site for a prison labor camp.

Joseph P. Kaylor, director of forests and parks, said the Department of Correction is seeking to expand a temporary reformatory camp there into a permanent facility for 400 to 500 inmates. He said it would disrupt recreational use of the park and poses "a threat to the whole park and recreation movement in the state."

Prison officials confirmed they plan to expand the facility but said it would house a maximum of 250 inmates. They also contended it would be located outside major recreational areas of the park and should cause no interference. Trustees from the House of Correction at Jessup have been quarantined on the park since 1950, when they were brought here to help develop the 761-acre shoreline property adjacent to the Chesapeake Bay Bridge.

But Kaylor said he has regarded their presence there as temporary and that only about 10 of the 110 presently housed at the park are currently working in its maintenance program. Others work on public works projects of the state.

He said the Department of Correction now seeking 100 acres "in the center" of the park for an expanded permanent facility and that he is opposed to it.

"The park is not yet fully developed for public use and we are not receiving funds in keeping with the needs for this bayfront recreation area," Kaylor said. "But it has been steadily increased use by the people of Maryland and I don't want to see it turned into a prison camp."

Court Refuses Delay In Casino Slot Ban

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals has refused to delay an order which would put into effect Maryland's ban on slot machines in Potomac River casinos.

The high court Tuesday denied a motion by operators of the gambling establishments for a stay of the mandate pending an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

The petition was filed Monday with Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune and was taken up by all five members of the high court along with an answer filed by the attorney general's office. The judges heard no oral arguments.

The casino operators still have another chance to stay in business. They may ask any justice of the Supreme Court for a stay of the state court's mandate pending a final decision on the controversial law by the nation's highest court.

Three Baltimore Cops Plead Guilty To Thefts

BALTIMORE (AP)—Three Baltimore policemen went to jail Tuesday to await sentence for a series of burglaries, some of them staged while they were on duty.

Some of the $7,600 worth of loot was hauled away in a police cruiser.

The officers, Marvin Bridgeman, 30; Michael Edward Molloy, 35; and Herbert W. Brazier Jr., 25, pleaded guilty to from two to six charges.

Judge Anselm Sodaro ordered them committed to jail pending sentence next Friday.

Molloy, on the force five years, had been commended several times and received a bronze star for valor in helping capture an armed bandit.

Police Lieut. Frank T. Schmidt told the judge the burglaries came to light last March 29 when another policeman discovered Brazier and Bridgeman on a burglary reconnaissance. They were off-duty, in plain clothes and had their service revolvers tucked in their trousers.

Schmidt said the pair tried to persuade Patrolman George Quire to join them after he found them in an alley. Instead, Quire reported to his superiors and a trap was set.

Quire was told to go back to the officers and arrange to get them a piece of high fidelity audio equipment they had talked about. Various officers watched as delivery was made from a cache of stolen property in a house, Schmidt said.

Jurors Indict Trio On Mann Act Charges

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two men from Illinois and the wife of one were indicted Tuesday on federal charges of taking three teen-age girls across state lines for immoral purposes.

The two men, both former Baltimoreans, and the woman were indicted under the Mann Act.

Named in the four-count indictment were:

William Michael Austrew, 29, alias Bill Davis, manager of a night club in Calumet City, Ill.

Harold Sapperstein, 36, of Beecher, Ill., and his wife, Anne, 25.

The jurors charged the three bought airplane tickets and induced three Baltimore area girls to go to Calumet City for purposes of prostitution in July, 1957.

The girls were 14, 17 and 19 years old.

Robert E. Cahill, assistant U.S. attorney, said the two counts involving the younger girls carry maximum penalties totaling 15 years. The counts involving the 19-year-old could bring penalties totaling 10 years.

The indictments charge that the two younger girls were induced July 13, 1957 to fly from Baltimore to Milwaukee, where their plane was diverted because of bad weather in Chicago en route to Calumet City.

The other two counts charge the trio bought a ticket for the 19-year-old July 11 and induced her to fly to Chicago en route to Calumet City.

Supertanker Is Launched

BALTIMORE (AP)—The SS Brighton, 46,000 ton tanker built by Bethlehem's Sparrows Point Shipyard for the Texas Co., was launched Tuesday.

The ship, one of the largest ever built in this country, was christened by Lady Beetham, wife of Sir Edward Beetham, governor of Trinidad and Tobago.

The ship was named after Brighton, Trinidad, a large fuel loading point at Pitch Lake where Sir Walter Raleigh stopped to get asphalt to caulk his ships in 1595.

The Brighton is a sister ship of the SS Trinidad, which went down the ways eight months ago.

The Brighton is 736 feet long, 102 feet wide and has a loaded draft of 38 feet. Her cargo capacity is 16,254,000 gallons, divided into 33 compartments. She has a sea speed of 16 knots.

Nude Silhouette Photos Touch Off Doctor-Educator Controversy

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Silhouette photographs of college girls in the nude touched off a controversy Tuesday between doctors and educators.

The photos, made for a posture program, were termed medically valueless by the Baltimore County Medical Assn. The doctors' resolution also said the photos were "beneath the Christian dignity of womanhood."

Maryland's top education official said he was "astonished" at the doctors' reaction.

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of education, demanded to appear before the medical group "to find out who our accusers are and on what facts they base their opinions." He said there was "nothing immoral" about the posture program.

Some parents have objected to the photos, made of freshmen girls at Towson State Teachers College.

Dr. Corrine Bize, director of health and physical education at the college, said none of the subjects facial features are transferred to the photograph. She said the girls stand nude only for a moment while sensitized paper in a special camera records the profile of their forms.

Dr. Earl T. Hawkins, college president, said corrective exercises designed to improve posture defects are prescribed following studies of the silhouette prints.

Dr. Hawkins said all freshmen girls must participate in the program but are permitted to decide whether to disrobe completely.

The medical association resolution they would not be hampered if it said that if the profile studies the girls wore small pelvic and did in fact have any medical value breast coverings.

Slayer Seeks Another Trial

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A young Baltimore man Tuesday asked the Court of Appeals to set aside the death sentence imposed on him for the robbery-murder of a bartender.

Charles W. Stansbury, 22, asked the high court to reverse his first-degree murder conviction and grant him a new trial.

Stansbury was sentenced last March for the Jan. 16 slaying of Ralph W. Sliger, 35-year-old bartender in the Coronet Lounge, Baltimore. According to testimony at the trial, Sliger was shot as he was being forced behind the bar at gun point toward the cash register.

Judges Michael J. Manley and Joseph L. Carter convicted Stansbury in Youth Court. They said the killing was first-degree homicide, even without a showing of premeditation, because it was committed during a robbery.

New Bids On School TV Sets To Be Asked

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—The Montgomery County Council voted Monday night to make a new start on the purchase of television sets for the county's public schools.

It rejected, 4-2, bids of $254,453 and $319,439 set. School Supt. C. Taylor Whittier, who had recommended the $319 sets for classroom instruction, was directed to get some electronics experts to help him review the specifications before new bids are asked.

The original bids were asked after the school system had ordered 78 sets at a cost of $319 each.

Fire Causes $80,000 Damage On Farm

LAYTONSVILLE, Md. (AP)—Fire destroyed two barns and a shed and caused damage estimated at $80,000 on a farm owned by brothers from Washington and Baltimore early Tuesday.

The fire was on the farm of T. Blair Middleton of Washington and Carlisle A. Middleton of Baltimore. Montgomery County Fire Marshall M. T. Slater said a quantity of feed and hay and some machinery also were lost.

The farm is near Laytonsville between Etchison and Unity.

Boy Fatally Beaten

BALTIMORE (AP)—A mother and stepfather were charged Tuesday with fatally beating their 4-year-old son with a broomstick and fists.

The Negro couple, Mrs. Gladys Mae Aye, 19, and Bennie Aye, 22, were held without bail in Central Police Court.

Arthur Edson Reporting: Cleaner Air Week Has No Connection With Windup Of Election Campaign

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is National Cleaner Air Week, and the cleaner air people proudly said Monday that they're ready for almost everything. This includes the Russians, but not, alas, messy old Mother Nature.

Let's tackle the Russians first, and deal with nature later.

As a gimmick, 16-inch helium balloons are sent up from 42 states, to show how pollution floats on the wind. But, someone wondered, what if one should drift into Russia, whose leaders seem sensitive about these things?

The Air Pollution Control Assn.

met the challenge head on.

A sample balloon arrived by mail Monday. On one side it proclaims, in English, that this is Cleaner Air Week. On the other, in big, blue characters, are the Russian words, or so the accompanying note says, for "weather observation."

Not that any of these balloons is likely to reach Russia. The best distance any balloon made in previous tests was 600 miles, from Green Bay, Wis., to West Virginia.

But that shows why pollution is a national problem, and why city and state officials, as well as industry leaders, belong to the association.

Strangely, the ordinary citizen—and not the large industrial plant—may be an unsuspecting offender.

Many industries have been sold on the idea that pollution is uneconomical, that "there there's smoke, there's waste." More than 100 million dollars are spent each year on anti pollution devices.

But we average characters go our cheerful, thoughtless ways, not knowing whether our automobile exhausts are smoking, whether our heating units are out of kilter, whether our trash could be better disposed of without burning.

At this time of year, leaf-burning, done on a suburbanwide scale, can be a real menace. Armed with this intelligence, perhaps you can convince your wife that you shouldn't heckle the leaves at all, lest the large piles tempt you to light them.

Yet man with all his fiendish ingenuity at making things unpleasant and unhealthy for himself still hasn't managed to equal nature.

In 1950, for example, a Canadian forest fire sent out huge clouds of smoke that drifted south, causing plane flights to be canceled, chickens to conclude they had done a day's work by noon, afternoon major league baseball games to be played under lights.

You'll remember the dust storms of the thirties, of course. But they were nothing compared with desert dust storms of 1907, which floated north from Africa. Red rain fell on England. Within two days, England collected 10 million tons of desert dust.

Move on back to August, 1883, when Krakatau Island in the East Indies blew its top. It caused a 50-foot tidal wave, killing 36,000, sent out clouds of dust that were to cover most of the earth, and produced strange sunset and sunrise conditions for months afterward.

A final political note: There's no connection between this cry for cleaner air and the windup of the election campaign. It's just one of those wonderful coincidences.

Army Officer Cites Men, Money Need

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The acting Army Chief of Staff said Monday his service needs more men and money for nuclear - missile age warfare, not less as the Eisenhower administration believes.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer said the Army must have more manpower and funds to be ready to meet "the entire spectrum of threats" by the Communists, especially limited war.

The administration has taken the position that fewer men are needed in the military services because of the devastating power of nuclear explosives and other modern weapons.

In line with this policy, the Army was scheduled to be cut by 30,000 to 870,000 men by next June 30. However, the cut back was postponed because of the Middle East and Far East crises.

The curvature of the earth is approximately eight inches to the mile.

Weeks Might Quit Cabinet By Year's End

By EDWARD COWAN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, one of the four remaining members of the original Eisenhower cabinet, is strongly considering resigning, perhaps by the end of the year.

He has told friends he would very much like to move back to his New Hampshire farm, but has reached no final decision. Mrs. Weeks, the former Jane Tompkins Rankin, has not been well lately and is said to favor leaving Washington.

Weeks, 65, has been in President Eisenhower's cabinet since the start of the chief executive's first term in 1953. The only other original members still left are Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Weeks has said that if he did not remain in office until the end of President's second term, he would step down early enough to permit his successor to learn the job and make a record for himself. Two years would seem to be the minimum for that.

Among other indications that Weeks may resign was his prompt announcement of a successor to Undersecretary of Commerce Walter Williams, whose resignation takes effect Nov. 1.

Williams, the number two man in the Commerce Department, will be succeeded by Frederick H. Mueller, the assistant secretary for domestic affairs. Mueller's post will be filled by his deputy, Carl F. Oechsle.

Also leaving the department at the end of the month is the undersecretary for transportation, Louis S. Rothschild.

One department official said the reshuffle was decided on and announced so quickly "to give the superstructure more stability if the boss moves out."

Weeks served as chairman of the Republican finance committee from 1949 until he took over the cabinet post. In that role, he was credited with collecting nearly six million dollars for Eisenhower's 1952 presidential campaign.

Males usually attain their maximum weight at about the age of 40.

Sail Space Ship, 'Ultrasonic' Dishwashing Forecast

By DARRELL GARWOOD
United Press International

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—A prospect for sailing off to Mars with a sail big enough to cover the Pentagon and "ultra sonic" dishwashing for the near future was unveiled Monday in a series of demonstrations.

Dr. T. C. Tsu, of the Westinghouse research laboratories, presented calculations indicating that a space ship with a parachute-like sail 1,600 feet in diameter would reach Mars from an earth orbit in 118 days—faster than a rocket ship. The sail's diameter would equal that of the Pentagon. Tsu said the sailing space ship would be propelled by the force of the sun's radiation. Despite its huge size, he said the sail would need to be only one - 10 - thousandths of an inch thick and would weigh only 800 pounds.

The scientist's calculations assumed the man-carrying gondola fastened by shroud lines would weigh 1,000 pounds, and that the sail would be unfurled after the ship had reached an orbit by rocket power.

Dr. R. A. Ramey, manager of the laboratory's division, meanwhile, demonstrated an ultra-sonic vibrator that washes dishes and pans.

Ramey attributed the cleaning to sound vibrations that now can be sent through the dishwasher because of a "significant breakthrough in transducer design."

He predicted that the device would become "practical" in two to four years. He added that "dishwashers" containing the sound type-washing feature ultimately would cost no more than the models sold today.

Snappy Suit

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—In a $25,000 superior court damage suit, Mrs. Ruth Miller said a mouse trap, being demonstrated by a store clerk, snapped on her right thumb.

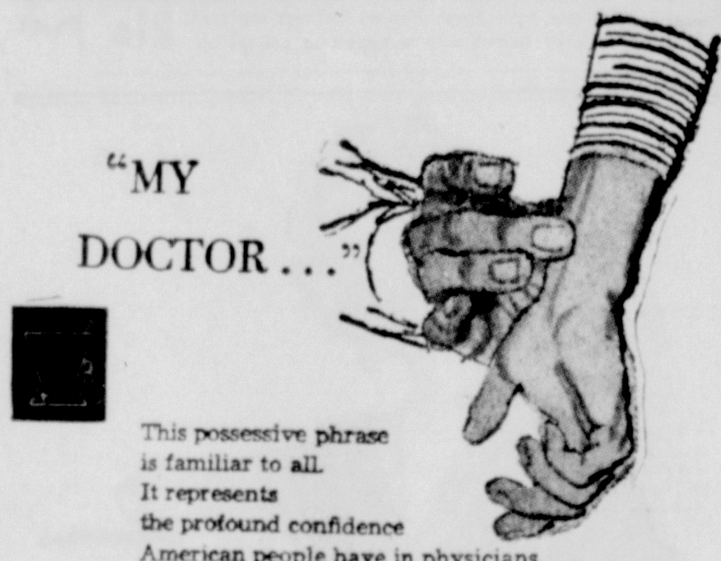

Mrs. Miller said her writing was impaired as a result and she was handicapped in her teaching duties. She sued the store.

Unacceptable Check

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Lloyd Thompson never had any trouble cashing traveler's checks until he tried to pay his state income tax. He said the Utah State Tax Commission, which accepts personal checks, wouldn't honor his traveler's check.

What are $SAVINGS$

I am the essence of security, the fulfillment of dreams, a panacea for financial worry. Young couples, teen-agers, the rich and the poor, merchants, and laborers place their trust in me. Who am I? I am savings.

On my shoulders rests the security of clerks, prize fighters, students, widows, etc. I fulfill boys' dreams of bicycles, aged people's dreams of retirement, and high schoolers' dreams of college.

I am the consolation of the tragedy-stricken, the ruination of poverty, the transportation from hardship to material stability.

I am a genie who can conjure up a television set, a new car, or the down payment on a home. I am at the beck and call of those who have the wisdom and foresight to make use of my services.

I am an organism that can reproduce itself and grow to a giant which will serve any cause — wealth, power, happiness, security, joy, peace, charity or comfort.

Without me the nation's economy would be undermined and inflation would reign supreme.

Without me, all would be havoc, for I am savings, cornerstone of America's peace of mind and love of security!

Officers were installed Sunday by Wamba Caravan 88, Order of Alhambra, at a ceremony held at Minke's Cottage Inn.

Walter Geise, Annapolis, deputy supreme organizer of the Order of Alhambra, led the installation team. A buffet dinner and dance followed.

Among the visitors were George F. Fink, grand commander of the Alcala Caravan, Baltimore. He was accompanied by Dr. Anthony F. Carozza, vice grand commander; George Zech, scribe of the exchequer; Joseph Zubowitz, past district commander for Maryland; John Bove, trustee; Joseph Frate and Pat Healey, chanters; and Michael Picarelli, Frank Mick and Joseph Marx, sir nobles, all of the Alcala Caravan, Baltimore.

Other visitors were Frank O'Neill, district commander, Alcantara Caravan, Washington; Francis Milford, district commander, Osma Caravan, and Jack McGovern, grand commander of Osma Caravan, College Park; and Joseph Tomaro, district commander of West Virginia.

The Wamba Caravan officers installed were Alex J. Schute, grand commander, Michael McDade, vice-grand commander, Frederick Hill, grand scribe, P. Vincent Martin, scribe of the exchequer, Thomas Keech, grand chamberlain, Robert H. Frame, master of the oasis, Patrick Farrell, master of the wardrobe, Arnold Gunther, historian, DeSales McDade, captain of the bodyguard, Arthur McDade, sentinel of the tower, Frank Murphy, sentinel of the desert, and Peter J. Carpentieri, grand advocate.

Peoples Transit Buses Making Local Stops

Stops in the downtown section of Cumberland began yesterday by the Peoples Transit Lines of Frostburg. Officials of the company said the operation would continue for an indefinite period.

Permission for the change was given by Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming Monday. Previously the buses bus terminal.

The route being taken on the trip through the city will be south down Mechanic Street with the initial stop in front of the Times-News building. From there buses will continue down Mechanic to Williams Street, turn up Centre Street and stop in front of the Elks Home. The return to Frostburg will be up Centre Street to Route 40.

Twenty-one trips are made daily from Frostburg to Cumberland. The first begins at 5:30 a. m. and the final run is made at 12:10 a. m.

CUF 'Oscars' Presentation Set At Dinner Today

"Oscars" will be awarded to all chairmen and team captains of the County United Fund who have met or exceeded their goals as a feature of the CUF victory meeting today at the Ali Ghan Country Club at 6:30 p. m.

This year's Oscar is a statuette of a child holding a torch on high. Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, Mighty United Campaign chairman, urged all CUF workers to confirm their reservations for the meeting not later than noon today by phoning chairman Ernest B. Treat at PA 2-2080 or CUF headquarters at PA 2-2700.

Captain Biggs also asked that all companies throughout the area complete their returns in time for tonight's meeting so that business and classified division workers may have full reports.

The CUF goal for the area covered by Mt. Savage, Frostburg, Georges Creek, Tri-Towns, Keyser and Cumberland is $339,622. Thirty-one health, welfare, youth and community agencies are included in the CUF.

Race Horse Sold For $500

A large crowd gathered at the corner of Baltimore and Liberty streets yesterday when the sheriff's office auctioned off a race horse.

The horse, Harriett O, was attached by Sheriff Edward R. Muir during the Faigo Race season as security for a $2,364 judgment in Frederick County.

The high bidder yesterday was Richard Hawse, this city, who secured the horse for $500. Deputy Sheriff Edgar Lewis conducted the auction.

The former owners of Harriett O were James Lee and Mary Ellen Doody.

Tawes Favors Revision Of Representation

BALTIMORE (AP)—J. Millard Tawes, Democratic candidate for governor, promised Tuesday to actively support efforts to revise representation in the Maryland General Assembly.

Tawes, in a statement issued by his Baltimore headquarters, said he helped draft a plank in the Democratic platform pledging an attack on the problem of representation.

The platform said large population shifts in certain Maryland areas make it clear that "a general revision of the basis of representation should no longer be postponed."

"I can assure the people of Maryland," Tawes said, "that I will not sit idly by and permit this subject to die for lack of any imaginative thinking and action."

An Honest Intent

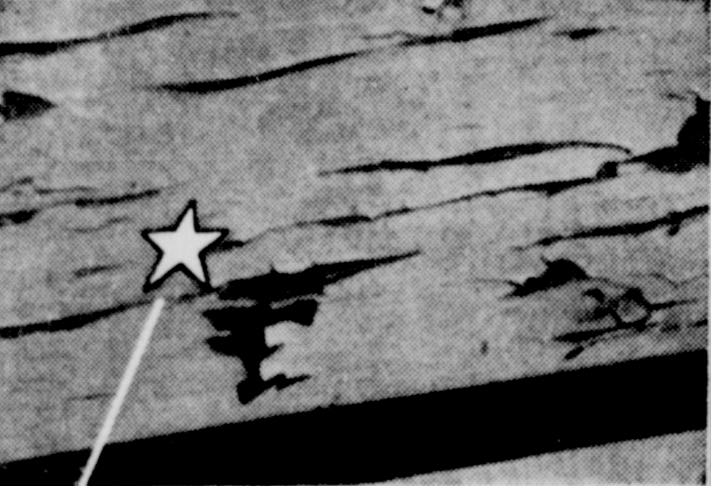

"With an honest intent and clear directive on the part of the chief executive, a competent commission can be put to work and come up with an acceptable solution to this complex problem."

Meanwhile, Tawes and his running mates moved into populous Montgomery County, near Washington, D. C., Tuesday. With Tawes were Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, running for the U. S. Senate, State Sen. Louis S. Goldstein, candidate for comptroller, and Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, seeking re-election.

While plugging for votes near Washington, D'Alesandro kept one eye on Republican doings in Baltimore.

He said Vice President Nixon's appearance in Baltimore and Pikesville Tuesday night was a desperate attempt by Republicans to "breathe some life" into what he called its "dying campaign" in Maryland.

Those Contracts

The mayor joined Goldstein in calling on Nixon to explain why ship building contracts at Bethlehem Steel's Baltimore shipyard were taken away and given to West Coast firms.

Was this done "to bolster Republican political activities in California by providing employment in that area?" D'Alesandro asked.

The same allegation was made by Goldstein in a speech at a Wilcomico County fund-raising banquet at Salisbury Monday night.

Tawes, meanwhile, ignored Republican charges that he took an illegal trip to Georgia in 1943, using a state car and wartime gas ration tickets.

The charge was revived by Tawes' Republican opponent, James P. Devereux.

Thumbs Up

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Mrs. Mark E. Tatum was having no luck in efforts to break 4-year-old Dennis of thumb-sucking.

Dennis was due to have his teeth cleaned and Mrs. Tatum called to discuss the problem with the dentist. So, while Dennis was in the chair, the dentist gave him the full treatment on the evils of thumb-sucking. Then he taped the boy's thumb and prescribed a lollipop a day to ease withdrawal pains.

Dennis returned home delighted with the whole affair. Mrs. Tatum soon found out why. He had given the dentist the wrong thumb to tape.

The Watermelon Look

HONOLULU, (AP)—When in Viet Nam, tell the girls they look like watermelons.

That's the advice from Baron Goto, an American just back from a visit to Viet Nam. He says older women there paint their teeth with black lacquer to make them look like watermelon seeds.

With this, plus pink cheeks like the melon's meat and green dresses like a melon's skin, the women reach the ultimate in Vietnamese desirability.

Local Students Studying At Johns Hopkins

Three local young students admitted to The Johns Hopkins University this fall are studying engineering, while another local student is studying business.

David R. Rowley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randel J. Rowley, 710 Greenway Avenue, who plans to become an electrical engineer is a graduate of Fort Hill High School where he was a member of the Student Council, the choir, Glee Club, National Honor Society, vice president of his class and worked on the school newspaper.

Robert W. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Powell of 431 Grand Avenue, also studying electrical engineering, graduated from Fort Hill High School where he played football, track and was a member of the H-Y.

A third graduate of Fort Hill High School, Tarrell W. Weltman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Weltman, of 104 Potomac Street, is also studying engineering. He played football, basketball, baseball and was a member of the National Honor Society and prom committee.

Joseph A. Cioni, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Cioni, Greenpoint Addition, a graduate of LaSalle High School, plans to study business and become a certified public accountant.

While in high school he played football, was president of the senior class, worked on the school newspaper and was a member of the Camera Club.

Income Problem

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Mrs. Olive Barnes received requests for various kinds of help in aiding taxpayers in making out their income tax returns in the New Customhouse lobby here.

One elderly man asked Mrs. Barnes if she helped everybody. Advised that she did, the man asked Mrs. Barnes to come to his home and "make my wife give me money."

Smaller Glass Firms Study Union Proposal

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Representatives of the smaller independent glass manufacturers said Tuesday that they were still studying the proposals of the United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union for a new contract agreement.

John Morris, spokesman for the companies involved in the negotiations, said Tuesday that his side "had not decided" when to call the next meeting with union leaders.

The union presented its proposals Monday and said the next meeting time would be up to the companies.

Both sides have refused to disclose details of the union proposals. Lewis McCracken, secretary-treasurer of the union, said Monday that the union would not disclose its demands until a new contract is reached, or until the old contract expires without an agreement being reached.

The pact expires Nov. 1. Firms involved in the talks are American-St. Gobain Glass Co. with plants in Arnold and Jeanette, Pa., and Okmulgee, Okla.; Roland Glass Co. and the Adamson Glass Co. both of Clarksburg, W. Va., and Harding Glass Co., Fort Smith, Ark.

Talks involving Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. and Libby-Owens-Ford, the nation's largest firms, resume Wednesday in Cleveland in an effort to resolve differences which have led to a strike of 25,000 employees.

Two Marine Reservists Get Awards

Two members of the inspector-instructor staff of the Sixth Infantry Company, USMCR, have been presented awards in recognition for their efforts and loyal service.

T Sgt. Francis V. Becker, supply chief who has been on duty here since May of 1956 was presented a good conduct certificate by Capt. Richard V. Molesky, inspector-instructor.

T Sgt. Carl G. Luiz, gunnery sergeant, was presented a good conduct certificate and a certificate for completing the Enlisted Advanced Course of the Marine Extension Schools, Quantico, Va.

Sergeant Luiz, with over 12 years service, enlisted in the Corps in 1946 at Boston, Mass., and received basic training at Parris Island, S. C. After basic training he was stationed at Newport, R. I., and after 14 months was sent to Yokosuka, Japan, where he worked two years as an investigator.

While in Korea he served with I Company, Third Battalion, First Marines and received five battle stars, was wounded in action and received the Silver Star for gallantry in action.

Among other citations he holds three Presidential Unit citations, and the Purple Heart.

Sergeant Becker entered the Corps in 1948 and served with the First Marine Division in Korea in 1953 and was stationed with the Second Service Regiment at Camp Lejeune, N. C. prior to coming here.

How Duer You Do!

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Alva Owen Duer and Alva Owen Duer have finally gotten together.

One of the Duers, who lives at Kansas City, Kan., and is executive secretary of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics, was in Lincoln for a speaking engagement when he heard of — and met for the first time — the Lincoln Veterans Administration official with the same name.

Neither knew of the other until the Lincoln Duer read about the Kansas City Duer in a newspaper clipping. The chat turned up the fact that grandfathers of the two Duers were brothers.

Scouts Scourge

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—Twelve hundred Cub Scouts from Dallas, Tex., came here by train to visit the Ardmore Air Force Base but there were three unhappy youths among the lot.

While on the train, it was discovered they had come down with measles and chicken pox. While other scouts visited the installation, the trio was confined to the train.

They were Danny Baxter, 9, and his brother William, 8, who came down with the measles, and Michael Dunn, 9, who had a case of chicken pox.

Saves Steps

MARIETTA, Okla. (AP)—Cliff Easley, 69-year-old rancher who lives near Marietta, can claim the most unusual mailbox in the area—it moves. And it saves him many steps.

Easley rigged up a mobile mailbox powered by an electric motor. Now he can push a button and "run" the mailbox from the road about 500 feet away up to the yard near his home.

ID Card

ATLANTA (AP)—An 11-year-old lad looking for his stolen bicycle among scores at police headquarters was asked how he could identify it and said he could do so through a piece of paper wedged under the handlebar.

"What was on the paper," Detective Pinson Hammond asked, "A girl's address," the youngster replied.

He got his bicycle.

U. S. Population Tops 175 Million

On October 16, a milestone was passed in the United States which went almost unnoticed except by the Census Bureau. On that date, according to estimates by the bureau, the population of the U. S. passed the 175 million mark.

This is not bad for a country which had only 5.3 million inhabitants in 1800, and less than 76 million in 1900.

One need not remind the city dweller that the population has increased. He need only observe the long lines of automobiles cluttering the streets or experience the exasperations of a midtown pedestrian. Despite these more apparent results of the population increase, the U. S. has only gained one percentage point of the total world population in the last thirty years.

Temporarily at least, there has been a lag in the baby boom in the U. S. in the past several months. This birth decline, says the Population Reference Bureau (a non-profit educational organization) will continue for a short period, but by 1965 this nation will be in the midst of the greatest population boom yet seen.

In view of the population increase to occur within the next seven years, the Population Reference Bureau cautions against those who advocate booming birth rates as a means of economic strengthening. Not so, says the group.

"The obsession that a permanent baby boom assures prosperity is a dangerous illusion," said a spokesman for the organization in Washington, D. C. "The extent to which rapid population growth is an income-depressing, inflationary force should be carefully examined in view of what is to come."

An estimated 50,000 fewer births this year than last is heralded as a badly needed respite for a country which, temporarily at least, has outgrown its productivity.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Inflation

T. Coleman Andrews used to collect the income tax and got disgusted doing it; he thereupon resigned and has devoted himself to proving that it is a bad tax. That he is correct in his premise is obvious from the harm that the tax has done to the country, particularly in wiping out the economic independence of the white collar elements, in reducing the middle class to a proletariat, and in opening the doors to a money racketeering which is infinitely worse than bootlegging, although it is hard to make a distinction in degree between one crime and other. The tax evader is a thief even if he saves his conscience by calling himself a tax avoider.

Money racketeering is not done by gangsters or little people. It is strictly a preoccupation of those who have money in large amounts and who get it out of this country to another where it can be converted into property other than currency without paying taxes.

The demoralization of a people starts with uniform lying. There is a constant contest between the government and its citizens as to how to handle this particular tax, the people using the word, avoidance; the government referring to it as evasion, and trying to put unpalatable offenders, such as Governor Orval Faubus in jail for alleged infractions.

What T. Coleman Andrews is trying to tell Americans is that the Federal Government since 1939 has taken the American people for nearly 28 times more income tax and for 10 times more social security tax and:

"The cost of living has been more than doubled and is still going up . . . And the value of the dollar has been reduced to well below 50 cents and is still going down! ! !"

Now this is not just hearsay. This is a statement by a trained accountant who had actually been the Collector of Internal Revenue and who knows what it is about. He has issued a circular to say that inflation is here now and that the peril is upon us. Coleman gives several examples. I shall quote two from him:

"For example, it took $4.86 to provide the same amount of buying power after taxes ($1.975) as $2.00 provided in 1939. Why? Because the income tax on the increase of $2.86 was $755 and $2,051 was required to make up for the toll taken by inflation.

"Thus, if, in 1937, you received $4,000 salary from a job that paid $2,000 in 1939, your 1937 salary was $806 short of what you needed in order to have as much buying power as the 1939 holder had.

"Or, to take a case where the salary paid in 1939 for the job you held in 1937, or one similar to it . . . let's suppose that the 1939 salary was $2,500. That's halfway between $2,000 and $3,000. A conservative approximation of the 1937 equivalent of a 1939 income of $2,500 can be obtained by adding the 1937 equivalent of a 1939 salary of $2,000 to the 1937 equivalent of a 1939 salary of $3,000 and dividing the total by two. That would be $4,860 plus $7,370, making a total of $12,176, which, divided by two would give $6,088.

"Now, if your salary from this job in 1937 was $5,000, it was $1,088 short of what it needed to be in order to have the same buying power that $2,500 had in 1939."

So what the government does is to issue more bonds which is money and thus the currency is inflated as surely as when the old kings clipped silver off the edge of coins. Inflation is a deadly disease; it is one of the principal causes of the present stock market rise, the speculators hedging against inflation which cannot be done except by purchasing productive land, art objects and diamonds. If it is true that the Russians have found a diamond field of merit, then this gem is not a hedge against inflation because its great value is due to its comparative scarcity which is the result of monopolistic practices by an international cartel that controls prices. Should any country find a top notch diamond field and decide to dump the commodity on the open market, prices would go tumbling.

The peril of inflation is so great that a government would take steps against it, but they are always unpopular steps, because they interfere with spending. And what politician wants to be unpopular?

A Planet We Should Explore

Indiana's Rural Route 2 Is Ominous For GOP

GREENFIELD, Ind.

By Joseph Alsop

No sensible man could resist the comfortable charm of a journey along Rural Route 2, which wanders vaguely through the soybean fields and cornfields of Indiana's Hancock County.

This James Whitcomb Riley country is rather flat and featureless. But the people are full of savor and wonderfully friendly. (Where else would two wandering, totally unknown reporters have been generally welcomed at an afternoon meeting of a ladies aid society?) The fat land and the big barns and the small neat farmhouses in the groves of trees, all brightly gilded by the autumn sun, make a fine scene of peace and plenty.

For the philosophic eye, even the vast brood sows wallowing by their roadside pens have the beauty of visible prosperity. But for Republicans in 1958, this Rural Route 2 is an ominous road, figuratively crawling with adders, shaded by poison sumac, and leading onwards to probable disaster on election day.

What makes this road so ominous for Republicans is the simple fact that it used to be a Republican glory road but has changed sharply in the past two years. The figures tell the story. In a long days work, the professional pollster, Lou Harris, and this reporter talked with thirty-six qualified voters on Route 2 and the intersecting and similar Rural Route 6. The farmers who broke off their soybean harvest and the housewives who interrupted their canning spoke with equal frankness.

Of the thirty-six, one had been too young to vote in 1956; five had voted for Adlai Stevenson; and no less than thirty had voted for President Eisenhower. Some of the younger voters had been out of the state and some of the women had not voted (as a surprising number of women do) except for the presidential candidate.

Anthrax Can Be Spread By Contaminated Hides

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Interest in anthrax was renewed recently when the public health service announced that an epidemic of this disease had broken out in the United States last fall. It stemmed from contaminated goat hair imported from India. The occurrence of anthrax is surprising, considering that Pasteur developed a successful vaccine more than 80 years ago.

It is a disease primarily of horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, and goats, and is transmitted to man occasionally through handling imported and unprocessed wool, hides, or hair. Anthrax can be acquired also by butchering, skinning, or dissecting infected carcasses. In this respect it is an industrial disease involving meat inspectors, farmers, cattlemen, butchers, veterinarians, laboratory workers, tanners and workers in textile and woolen mills.

The usual form occurs through the skin. A painless hard lump forms on the hand or arm within a few days, which itches and is surrounded by a swollen red halo. The lump softens and breaks down into an ulcer that resembles a boil or carbuncle.

Lung involvement follows inhalation of the dust in factories where contaminated hair or wool is handled. The condition resembles pneumonia and is known as wool-sorter's or ragpicker's disease. Prior to discovery of the wonder drugs, the mortality rate ranged from 20 to 30 per cent. It now is 1 per cent. Anthrax, like other infections that result from contact with animals, is best treated by attacking the source. This means control of the animals through vaccination and other veterinary measures.

Those who handle potentially infected hides, hair, and wool should use mechanical aids, heavy gloves, and rubber boots. Imports of hides from animals known to be infected ought to be prohibited or the material sterilized properly before handling.

Bombing Of Schools, Synagogues Sets Pattern Like Nazi Germany

By Drew Pearson

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Few people realize it when fear first creeps into the heart of a nation, and few people today probably realize that this is happening in the United States.

When Nazism first began corroding Germany, most people didn't pay much attention. A bomb was tossed at a Jewish synagogue. A Swastika appeared on a Jewish shop. It created little attention. Some people even snickered. But gradually the persecution grew. Protestants and Catholics at first sat on the sidelines, unworried about the prospect that they might be next.

But they were next — as the hatred and the terror spread. It spread until neighbors suspected neighbors, until fathers feared sons, and until a government based on terror and force reached out to subdue neighboring nations with terror and force.

When a bomb went off in front of the Jewish community center in Nashville last year, nobody paid much attention. It didn't hurt anyone. Several Protestant ministers called up Rabbi William Silverman to express their shock and to ask what they could do to help.

"Have you preached about it?" replied the Rabbi. "Have you told your people that this is wrong?"

The ministers said they had not, and they seemed to hesitate about doing so.

Pocketbook Terror

More bombing followed in Miami, Charlotte, N. C., Jacksonville, Birmingham. Some were Jewish temples, some were Negro churches. Then, on Oct. 4, 1958, one year after Sputnik, the high school in Clinton, Tenn., blew up at the hands of an expert dynamiter. A lot had happened between Oct. 4, 1957 and Oct. 4, 1958, and much of it, especially the increase of hatred, tore holes in America's proud tradition of live-and-let-live, of loving thy neighbor as thyself.

One week later, October 11, another terrible explosion wrecked a synagogue in Atlanta. A few days later, there were explosions in Peoria, Ill., in Boston against Jehovah's Witnesses, the religious sect of President Eisenhower's mother, and a report that a bomb was planted in beautiful St. Patrick's Cathedral, Mecca of worship for New York Catholics.

Taking the same pattern as that followed in Germany, fear and terror grew. Police were stationed outside of most synagogues in the South. The children of some Rabbis had to be escorted to school.

Most people, however, still were not afraid. After all, it was only school children and a minority religious group which had suffered.

However, fear had begun to hit a great many other people in a more cowardly but highly sensitive spot — the pocketbook. When a big manufacturer in the north was asked to contribute building materials to help rebuild the Clinton schoolhouse, he was sympathetic, but replied that he had to do business in the South and he might be boycotted there.

When Henry J. Kaiser, whose pastime is promoting Honolulu as the playground of the world, was asked to promote more serious things by contributing a carload of Kaiser Company cement, He ducked.

When Mrs. James Parker, head of the Parent-Teachers Association in Chicago, was asked to arrange cooperation of Parent-Teachers to help the children of Clinton, she was politely and gracefully uncooperative. She did not want to get mixed up in a situation where a Tennessee school had been destroyed because of hate. Fear of how southern members of her group would react had crept in.

"It takes two of us nowadays—me in the factory and my boy in the field—to feed this family," said one of these smaller farmers angrily. "So I'm votin' for the Democrats because they're for people like us, and let the others go Republican." But he was wrong about "the others." His neighbor, who must have been worth above one hundred fifty thousand dollars in land, plant-machinery and stock was also voting for the Democrats "because it's time for a change."

On the other hand, there was no real love for the Democrats among the Republican deserters, as is indicated by the size of the "don't know" and "plain disgusted" groups. Desertion had plainly been encouraged by the character of the Indiana Republican party, which is rent with feuds and stained with scandal. But desertions on the scale we found here would never have occurred if the enthusiasm still persisted that had made five out of six of these people vote for Eisenhower on the national ticket. Among too many, that enthusiasm has altogether seeped away.

RABBIT DISEASE

J. R. writes: Is tularemia confined to wild rabbits or can domestic animals carry these germs?

REPLY

The disease attacks chiefly wild animals but there is no reason why domestic animals cannot develop it.

MASSAGE AFTER STROKE

Mrs. G. writes: My mother is recovering nicely from a stroke but still drags her right foot. Will it help if I massage her foot and leg?

REPLY

Yes. Ask her physician how to do the job properly, and also to teach your mother how to relearn to raise her leg. Meanwhile, a small brace may be used to keep the foot from dragging.

AGE AND THYROID

H. G. writes: Is a sluggish thyroid part of the aging process?

REPLY

No, although many older persons thrive on small amounts of thyroid extract. Hypothyroidism is more common in younger age groups, and in this respect is unrelated to aging.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Under 60th Street in New York, there is a well-upholstered cellar called Copacabana. It is jammed with tiny tables and the tables are jammed with people. There is a bandstand, a line of handsome girls, a girl singer, a marionette act, and a short leering man with poached eyes named Joe E. Lewis.

If you have not seen Mr. Lewis, you have not seen the best nightclub act in America. When television shuts down for the night, the Jackie Gleasons and the Milton Berles troop into the cellar to trade genial insults with Lewis. He is the only man I know who drinks on duty.

He is 56, and his home port is El Rancho in Las Vegas. His hobbies are drinking, gambling and women. "Keeps me out of trouble," he says. The biggest thrill he ever had in racing came when he bet on a 50-to-1 shot called Stud Poker, who lost to Citation in a movie finish.

A photo was made about Lewis. It was called "The Joker is Wild." "I get royalties from it," says Joe E. Lewis. "No money. Just royalties." He has tried television and radio, but they are not his media. Lewis is too loose with sophisticated, sexy lines ever to grace a Wahoo living room. He plays to the wise guys.

He has a profile like Happy Hooligan and he wears his black hair long on one side so that it can be combed across the dome. He drinks de luxe scotch most of the day and all night. While he works, slurring his patter to the patrons, he picks up a glass from a customer's table now and then, and says politely: "Scotch? Thanks."

Joe's real name is Joe Klewan. He was born to an old fashioned Jewish family in New York City. His father was Abe Klewan, cork manufacturer. The elder Klewan spent a lifetime putting corks in bottles: Joe has spent the same amount of time pulling them out. His mother was his first girl, and, I guess, his last. She died a few weeks before her 99th birthday.

When he was 16, she found that he was working in a burlesque theatre. She ordered him to quit the job. He did. Thirty years ago, he was earning $1,000 a week in a Chicago nightclub. This was odd, because he had no material, no writers. He merely read the newspapers and made fun of what he read.

Today, he has Eli Bass writing his jokes. Mr. Lewis earns a quarter of a million dollars a year and everyone says that he is broke because he spends it on horses. This is not true. There is a Chicago judge named Abe Marovitz who invests the Lewis loot.

Lewis likes to talk about his drinking. Onstage, after a long gulp, he grins like a little boy hiding in a ladies' Turkish bath, and he says: "I can hardly wait to hear what I have to say now." When he talks through prolonged laughter, he says: "I'm trying to make a living and they're laughing at me."

I asked him how much he drinks each day. "Any given amount," he said. His pianist is Austin Mack, who is introduced nightly as "John Phillip Souze." When Mr. Lewis walks onstage, a bugler plays "post time."

He comes out talking about his operation. "I had a pain in the stomach," he says. "I think I swallowed a shot glass. I went to a California hospital. The doctors gave me a 50-50 chance, so I switched to Cedars of Lebanon where they gave me 8-to-5."

Besides New York, Lewis plays Cincinnati and a few other towns. Most of his time (20 weeks) is spent at El Rancho in Vegas where, as Mr. Lewis says: "I devote my time pouring scotch into empty Blatz beer bottles. I have the only scotch with a head."

Like most hard-boiled characters, he is easily moved. We were talking about Dan Healy, the Night Mayor of New York, and Lewis's skin sagged into grim lines and he said: "Somebody was telling me that Dan is broke. Hell, he was the greatest master of ceremonies New York ever had and he did more free work for actors who were down on their luck than anybody in the business. It isn't right to neglect a man like Healy."

He sipped a scotch and, over the glass, his eyes glistened like maraschino cherries. "If you have to go, pal," he said, "this is the way. I'd hate to have to die of a rupture or something..."

Factographs

Approximately 44 per cent of families in the United States do not have any children under 18 years of age.

Portugal has been an independent state since the Twelfth century.

A porpoise has no outside ear, but a tiny hole just behind each eye permits it to hear under water.

On the other hand, the AFL Building Trades unions were not afraid. Hearty cooperation was offered by the bricklayers, the plumbers, the plasterers, to try to get the labor to rebuild the Clinton Schoolhouse free. Nor was Rev. Billy Graham afraid. He telegraphed:

"Am shocked and disturbed over bombing of synagogues, churches, and schools. This type of thing is what brought Hitler to power in Germany. I am delighted you are helping to rally leaders of all walks of life to take a strong stand to discourage the wave of bombing. Will do all in my power to assist. Gladly lend my name on committee for campaign."

Other Southern leaders were equally unafraid—including Gov. J. M. Coleman of Mississippi, Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina, and Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida.

"We can't mingle hate with disrespect for law," said Governor Collins, "without reaping disorder. That's what we are reaping today."

"The South does not believe in using force and terror against children or against worshippers of any religion," was the emphatic statement of Governor Coleman.

They, with many other Southern leaders, did not hesitate to stand up and be counted in a drive to mobilize public opinion against terrorism and help those who have suffered from bombs of hate. They included Silliman Evans, Publisher of the Nashville Tennessean; Mayor William Hartsfield of Atlanta; Mayor Ben West of Nashville; Mayor Bruce Hoblitzell of Louisville; Eu E. Reid, head of the Alabama League of Municipalities; Barrett Shelton, publisher of the Decatur Ala. Daily; Congressman Brooks Hays of Arkansas; Congressman Howard Baker of Tennessee; Maclean Davis, the Nashville attorney; Dr. Hugh Morgan of Vanderbilt University Hospital; Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky; Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri; Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Their hope is that an aroused public opinion will put an end to the day when synagogues have to be guarded by special police and children go home from school not knowing whether their schoolhouse will be there next morning when they come back.

Council Okays Ordinance On New Sidewalks

FROSTBURG—The Mayor and Council met Monday to conduct their semi-monthly meeting. Bills approved for supplies, street lighting, power bills and others amounted to Corporate fund $3,185.24, and water fund $2,196.38.

An ordinance was read and approved to permit blacktop and any similar approved paving materials to be used on sidewalks.

Edward Finzel asked council to refrain from contributing to an annual dinner for members of the Fearer Memorial Basketball League, and pay $125 each to Coaches Gerald Calhoun and Kenneth Babcock and Francis Carington for their supervision of 250 children playing basketball during the winter season. Council took the matter under consideration.

A committee from the Fire Department, composed of David Powell, Paul Haberlein, Jonathan Sleeman and William Close, and Vincent Bollino and George Pugh from Teen Town asked council to share in the improvements now being made on the hallway which leads to the firemen's lounge and teen town. Council voted to share in the expense.

The Civil Service Board for the city will be instructed to go ahead with examinations to fill the posts of water superintendent and street superintendent, caused by the resignation of Peter Kenney and the death of Allan Baker.

The city attorney was instructed to go ahead with arrangements for collecting old paving liens still owed by property owners.

A motion was made and passed to share in the expense of the annual Halloween parade along with the Fire Department. The parade to be held October 30.

James P. Rogers, certified public accountant, informed council that he had completed the annual audit of the city for the 1957-58 fiscal year.

Norway boasts one of the lowest crime rates in the world.

Mt. Savage Homemakers Plan Varied Activities

MT. SAVAGE—The Mt. Savage Homemakers Club met a recent afternoon in St. George's Hall with Mrs. Sarah Carter, president, presiding. The group read the Homemaker's Collect and recited the Lord's Prayer in unison. The flag salute was led by Mrs. Harry Long, citizenship chairman, and the club sang the hymn of the month, "O, Jesus Thou Art Standing."

Roll call was answered by 13 members relating their favorite television show.

Birthday greetings were sung to Mrs. Thomas Adams and Mrs. Lewis Beal.

Monthly prizes were won by Mrs. Raymond Yutzy and Mrs. Wesley Sleeman.

Mrs. Lloyd Wade announced that the Homemaker's County Chorus will sing in Central Methodist Church the first Sunday in December.

The club will participate in the Fun Jamboree to be held Friday in Mt. Savage High School auditorium.

The first class at the community workshop will be the making of mats, wastebaskets and flower pot covers of brightly colored magazine pages or wallpaper. This class will be held in the guild room of St. George's Hall Wednesday, October 29, from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. The teacher will be Mrs. Roy Deffenbaugh, and luncheon will be served by St. Margaret's chapter of St. George's Church.

Mrs. Harry Long reported on a Civil Defense meeting held for county homemakers last month at the LaVale fire hall. She also discussed progress of the cleanup campaign. The club will purchase a trash container.

Mrs. Raymond Yutzy, reading chairman, reported on a combined edition of two novels, "Lovely Lady" and "Captain Caution" in one volume, to be added to the club's library.

Mrs. Maude Holsinger was appointed chairman of the following nominating committee: Mrs. Lewis Beal, Mrs. Francis Blank, Mrs. Harry Long and Mrs. Howard Huff.

The next monthly meeting will be held November 20 at 7:30 p. m. when Mrs. Harry Miller, Frostburg, will show arrangements of dried flowers.

Band Boosters Are Organized

OAKLAND—A group of citizens interested in the formation of a band booster organization for Southern High School met recently at the school.

The following officers were elected: M. C. Cargo, president; H. M. Riley, vice president; Mrs. B. B. Snyder, secretary; Mrs. Marguerite Miller, treasurer; and Harry C. Coddington, publicity chairman.

Cargo urged that a large number of persons join the group, regardless of whether or not they are band parents. He announced the formation of a "Buck a Month Club." Persons belonging to this group will be able to attend concerts without paying admission.

Another short meeting was held last night prior to the Southern High Parent-Teacher Association meeting.

Ryan To Speak In Garrett Co.

OAKLAND — Edward J. Ryan of Frostburg, a former Democratic candidate for Congress, and Edward Storm, a candidate for Congress in the recent primary election, are speakers scheduled to appear in Garrett County, it was announced by Lewis Hutson, chairman of the Democratic committee of Kitzmiller.

Ryan will address a rally Friday in the William-James Hotel here. Storm will speak at a rally in Grantsville October 29. County candidates are set to tour the area Saturday, November 1.

Teacher-Education Workshop To Be Held Today At FSTC

FROSTBURG—Mrs. Grace S. Kopp, director of practice teaching for elementary students at State Teachers College has announced that for the past several years the college has held teacher-education conferences for the purpose of coordinating efforts to improve the teacher education program through the development of a closer relationship of the counties and the college. These conferences have been informative and inspirational and their worth justifies their continuance, Mrs. Kopp said. Another conference will be held today at the college and will consist of a workshop and a dinner meeting.

Personnel from the State Department of Education, the college faculty and county superintendents, supervisors, principals and supervising teachers who are identified in various ways with this program will attend.

The first part of the conference is a workshop for supervising teachers and will be held in Old Main at 5 p. m.

The junior high school group will meet in Room 203 and the elementary group in Room 204 for the purpose of discussing problems related to student teaching. Other interested persons may attend either of these two meetings.

Midland WSCS To Entertain Clergymen

MIDLAND—The Women's Society of Christian Service of Midland Methodist Church made plans at their recent meeting to be hostess to the Ministerial Association, Monday, October 27 at 10:30 a. m. in the church. Luncheon will be served by the society.

The committee in charge includes Pearl Blair, chairman, Freda Wilson, Florence Emerick, Naomi Kroll, Bess Eisenbrot, Eloise Baker, Flossie Metz, Hil-dred Brodie, Earlene Cordial, Thelma Harclerode, and Aleda Wilson.

Devotions which preceded the meeting were led by Thelma Harclerode and had as the theme, "And Crown Thy Good With Brotherhood."

Eloise Baker, presided during the business session. Reports were made on the recent zone meeting and also on the pilgrimage to the Asbury Home in Gaithersburg.

Mrs. Hannah Davis, an honorary member, was reported improved after having required hospital treatment when she fell on a glass and cut her face at her home.

The canned offering for the November meeting will be canned meat. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Florence Fleigle, Mrs. Ruth Sigler, and Mrs. Willie Kroll.

McCoolle PTA Plans Festival

McCOOLE—The McCoolle Child Study Group, under leadership of Mrs. Ruby Adams, held its first meeting of the present school year, a recent evening in the McCoolle Elementary School. It was the first of a series of meetings to be held over a six weeks period. The talks concern the close relationship between the child, home and school.

Another meeting subsequent to the first was a homeroom mothers meeting to make plans for the observance of Halloween, with a fall festival to be held October 30, at the elementary school. There will be homemade candy, cakes, pies, hot dogs and hamburgers, soft drinks, cartoon movies in the auditorium. Prizes will be given for the best costume, worst costume, funniest and most original costumes.

On Monday at 8:30 o'clock, the well baby clinic will be held in the old McCoolle fire hall.

She re-enlisted for the same assignment for three years. Miss Zies is a graduate of Romney High School.

Band Boosters Meet At MHS

MT. SAVAGE—The first meeting of the Band Parents and Boosters club was held recently. In the absence of the president, Wilson Sweeney presided. The meeting opened with prayer. A committee was appointed to take care of cleaning the popcorn machine and preparing and fitting uniforms. This committee consists of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Lowery, Ellerslie; Mrs. Thomas Lewis and Mrs. Sara Carter, Mt. Savage.

Thomas Lewis, band director, talked to the group about the care of instruments and also about having the band function at local affairs and in nearby communities.

One of the first fund raising affairs announced by Sara Carter, chairman of the ways and means committee will be a bake sale. It was also decided to sell candy, tonic and weiners at the basketball games this year.

Soroptimists To Observe Founders Day

KEYSER—The regular meeting of the Soroptimist Club of Keyser was held a recent evening at the Rosemont restaurant. The meeting opened with invocation by Mrs. Beulah Hesen. The regular business was conducted following a steak dinner served by Mrs. William Young and her staff.

The club will celebrate the anniversary of the Soroptimists on Founders' Day. All clubs will sponsor a special event party, observing the 37th anniversary of the parent group. Laura Grayson presented a narration of the origin of Founders' Day. The local club has founded a fund to be used for the celebration of this particular memory day, once each year. Soroptimist is the largest club of its kind working internationally.

The club, has agreed to join the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the Christmas decorations and Yule festivities here.

Today, the club will join in a tour of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Bulldogs Tie Valley High For WMI Lead

Beard, Chiccehitto Score Goals; Price Makes Twelve Saves

WMI SOCCER LEAGUE
Team	W	L	T	Pts
Bruce	3	0	1	7
Valley	3	0	1	7
Beall	2	2	0	4
Flintstone	0	3	1	1
Mt. Savage	0	3	1	1

Bruce High School's Bulldogs tied the Valley High School Black Knights, defending champions, for first place in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League by turning back Beall High School's boosters yesterday at Westernport by the score of 2-0.

Coach Leonard Ritchie's team sewed up the decision early by scoring field goals in the first and second periods. The victory was the third for the Bulldogs against one tie game with Valley.

Roy Beard scored the first goal on an assist from Russell Raines and Ronald Chiccehitto accounted for the second score on an assist from Jesse Miller.

Price Makes 12 Saves
The game was highlighted by the goal tending of John Price who made a total of 12 saves at the uprisings. It was the busiest afternoon he put in this season.

Halfback Robert Kalbaugh, Ronnie Chiccehitto and Jesse Miller also played outstanding games for Bruce. Rich Andrews, Paul Peterbrink and Jim Gardner were Beall High's best bets.

The "big battle" is on tap for next Tuesday when Bruce and Valley tangle at Lonaconing. Aggies Tie Mt. Savage

Mt. Savage High's Bulldogs and the Flintstone Aggies battled to a 2-2 tie at Mt. Savage as the first half of the league schedule was concluded. All of the scoring in this game was done in the final period.

After three scoreless periods, Gary Duckworth gave the Indians a 1-0 lead by booting a field goal on an assist by Ed Trimble. Le Roy Morris followed with a field goal to give Coach John Thomas' team a 2-0 edge. Flintstone, however, rallied to tie the score in the closing minutes on field goals by Collier, who registered on a punter kick, and Reed Clinger.

Jan, who got an assist from "Butch" Heavner.

Ed Trimble, Dale Hott and Le Roy Morris stood out for Mt. Savage while Collier, Heavner and Clingerman were outstanding for the Aggies.

The second half schedule will get under way Friday. Lineups: AT WESTERNPORT

Iowa Jumps To 7th In Grid Poll

Army Holds Lead, Ohio State Second, Northwestern 8th

By WHITNEY MARTIN

Associated Press Sports Writer
Texas, Auburn and Mississippi voted into the fourth, fifth and sixth spots in the Associated Press college football poll this week, had better have a care. Those spots are exceedingly vulnerable.

As the unbeaten Army powerhouse again was voted the No. 1 spot by the sportswriters and sportscasters, the previous holders of these three positions dropped from the top ten entirely, all victims in games last Saturday.

Wisconsin lost to Iowa, Michigan State to Purdue, and Navy was upset by Tulane.

Iowa Jumps To 7th
On the strength of its victory, Iowa jumped from 13th place to 7th this week. Northwestern moved from 17th to 8th as a result of its tremendous showing in trouncing Michigan, and Oklahoma moved up from 11th to 9th, the voters obviously impressed by the Sooners' lop-sided victory over Kansas.

Army received 90 first place votes, 68 more than Louisiana State, which climbed from ninth position to third and was second in the number of votes for the No. 1 position.

Ohio State, moving from third to second, received only 14 votes for the No. 1 spot, but it had tremendous support for the lesser positions in the top 10.

Tie Proves Costly
The tie with Georgia Tech was costly to Auburn, which dropped from second a week ago to fifth, right behind Texas. The Longhorns jumped from 7th to fourth, like Ohio State, they had big support for the lesser spots, although considered No. 1 by only two voters.

Only No. 1 Army and No. 10 Clemson retained their positions over a weekend which saw a wave of upsets sweep the nation's gridirons.

Some of the leaders face real trouble this week. An Army team that may be minus its star back, Pete Dawkins, meets a deep and rugged Pittsburgh eleven, and Ohio State takes on a good Wisconsin team which is smarting from its first loss, to Iowa.

Auburn Plays Terps
Louisiana State takes on Florida, which has won two, tied one and lost one. Texas and Auburn will be favored over Rice and Maryland, respectively, and Mississippi is a top-heavy choice over Arkansas.

Iowa and Northwestern, the No. 7 and No. 8 teams, tangle in what promises to be a thriller, based on the performances of the two teams last week. Oklahoma figures to outdistance Kansas State, but Clemson may find South Carolina tougher than its record might indicate, particularly when the intense rivalry is considered.

The second ten are Notre Dame, Colorado, Wisconsin, Air Force Academy, Purdue, Texas Christian, Georgia Tech, Navy, Mississippi State and Michigan State.

West Virginia Deaf Picked To Top Hawks

The West Virginia School for the Deaf is picked to defeat Ridgeley by the score of 21-14 and Romney is conceded a 7-6 edge over Petersburg in Potomac Valley Conference games this weekend by Bill Barrett, of the Charleston (W.Va.) Bureau of United Press International.

Unbeaten Shepherd College is picked to beat Newport News Apprentice School on Saturday, 2-0.

Jesse's Rams No. 1 Navy Brat Perishes
Jones Gets Mention Fox Is Great Guy

By C. V. BURNS

GEORGE SPRINGER, secretary of the West Virginia Conference, rates Shepherd College No. 1 in that circuit with 106.2 points, and that should be pleasing news to little Jesse Rigglesman, the Rams' coach who formerly handled the football reins at Petersburg and Ridgeley high schools.

Shepherd is Jesse Rigglesman, undefeated in the conference, having beaten Davis Elkins, 33-7, Potomac State, 26-7, and West Virginia Tech, 20-14, and played a 7-7 tie with Fairmont State.

Fairmont trails Shepherd in the ratings with 100.0 points. Potomac State is far down the line with 43.7.

Rigglesman has done quite well since taking over the Shepherd coaching post at the start of the 1956 season. Over three campaigns his teams have won 12, including three straight wins over Potomac State, an arch rival, lost 7 and played one tie game.

The Rams play their final conference game with Concord College's Mountain Lions at Shepherdstown, November 1. Concord's current rating is 27.5 points.

WHEN North Hagerstown battled Fort Hill to a 6-6 draw last Friday in the Hub city it marked the first time in five years and 43 games that the Sentinels had engaged in a tie contest.

The last tie contest was with Allegany (7-7) on Thanksgiving Day in 1953.

Since that game Coach William Hahn's teams had engaged in 42 contests, winning 37 and losing five.

LARRY JONES' passing performance in the West Virginia School for the Deaf's 37-0 victory over Musselman High School last Friday was one of the highlights in West Virginia high school football the past week, according to the Charleston Bureau of United Press International.

The Lions' halfback fired three scoring passes to Dan Hudson and one to Bobby Moon, scored himself on a 38-yard gallop and ran for an extra point.

Jones is a sophomore, is six feet tall and tips the beam around the 200 mark. His home is Dunbar, W. Va.

The undefeated Lions (5-0) face their most important Potomac Valley Conference test on Saturday when they play host to a rampaging Ridgeley High eleven that has knocked off Moorefield, Petersburg and Romney in its last three outings.

If the Lions can bag this one they have an opportunity to win or tie for the P.V.C. crown this year. It's the homecoming game for the Romney school and a football queen will be crowned during halftime ceremonies.

GALLAUDET College, of Washington, D. C., scored its first football victory since 1955 on Saturday by beating Baltimore Junior College, 26-0.

Charles Buemi, of Huntington, W. Va., a product of the West Virginia School for the Deaf where he starred in football and basketball, is now playing in Gallaudet's backfield.

NAVY BRAT, 6-year-old mare, winner of the final race on the last day of this year's Fairgo meeting, was among the thoroughbreds that perished in the stable fire that claimed the lives of 23 horses at the Marlboro track on Sunday.

Owned by Lloyd Brining of Hagerstown, Navy Brat hung up the current record at Fairgo for one mile and 3/16 in 1957 when she negotiated the distance in 2:19 3/5.

Songai, a two-times winner here last month, and a successful campaigner in jumping races on the milers in recent years, also perished in the flames. The 9-year-old gelding was owned by Bill Thomas, of Bryn Mawr, Pa.

New Dice, victor here in 1957 and 1958, which figured in a double payoff of $164 in 1957, died as did William G. Christmas' Starward Bound, 3-year-old filly. New Dice, 6-year-old mare, was owned by Bill Grove, of Hagerstown.

PAUL BRADLEY'S, Altoona Catholic High School Marauders, who appear on LaSalle's grid schedule this season, have reeled off four wins in a row after losing the opener, their latest victim being Hollidaysburg High School, 32-6.

The same school whipped Altoona last year by the score of 36-9.

"WHO was the fellow that knocked the ball out of the park?" inquired Roy Race of the writer after Gene Stair blasted a grand slammer off the Pittsburgh hurler in Sunday's exhibition game here.

We explained that Gene was formerly the property of the Pittsburgh club.

"What did you throw him?" asked Nellie Fox.

"I tried to fire a fast one by him and he really clobbered it," Face replied. "He also smacked one of my pitches on the nose for a hit in the first inning."

In 1950 Gene batted .310 at Salisbury, N. C., hit .273 in the Provincial League with St. Jean in 1954 after two years of military service. At Phoenix, Ariz., in 1955 he turned in a batting average of .375 in 85 games, hit safely in 25 consecutive contests, batted in 104 runs and wound up the season with the Class A Lincoln, Neb., club. He was assigned to Waco in 1956 but felt he was entitled to play in a league of higher classification at a higher salary so he gave up minor league ball. He has played at Hyndman the past three years.

SITTING on the bench with Dick Groat's players we learned that certain major leaguers are down-to-earth fellows, particularly Nellie Fox, the brilliant second baseman of the Chicago White Sox, who is known as the little guy with a big chew of tobacco in his jaw, and Jerry Lynch, of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Fox is said to be one of the best liked players in the American League and we believe it.

One of the fellows accompanying the team on its barnstorming tour told the writer that Nellie's autograph was the most sought during the trip and Fox made a hit everywhere he appeared.

Groat's team played here on percentage and it collected the nice sum of $700.

Ronnie Young Scores Twice For Teachers

Bobcats Post First Win; Goalie Baile Western Md. Star

Frostburg State Teachers College soccer team crashed the win column for the first time this season by defeating the Green Terrors of Western Maryland College yesterday at Frostburg by the score of 2-1.

In previous games Coach Kenneth Babcock's booters had played scoreless ties with Penn State Freshmen and the Salisbury (Md.) Teachers and lost to Lock Haven (Pa.) Teachers, 4-2, and Slippery Rock (Pa.) 4-1.

Cedar Rapids, Boise, Midland and Yakima went on to win playoffs in their leagues.

Second place finishers were Jacksonville in the class A South Atlantic League; Wichita in the class AAA American Association and McCook in the class D Nebraska State League. Atlanta was third in the class AA Southern Association and Austin fourth in the class AA Texas League.

Breedlove, left guard, and Gunderman, at right, were both injured in last Saturday's Atlantic Coast Conference game with North Carolina. Breedlove was named to the all-conference team last year. Neither player has worked out during the past two days.

The Terps went through a one and a half hour full scrimmage today, concentrating mainly on defense against Auburn's vaunted passing attack. There also was some drilling in offensive running plays.

Mont plans to emphasize passing offense in Wednesday's scrimmage.

Anthony and Ray To Fight Nov. 14

NEW YORK (UPI) — Light heavyweight contenders Tony Anthony of New York and Sonny Ray of Chicago were matched Tuesday for a 10-round fight at Madison Square Garden, Nov. 14.

Anthony is the top-rated 175-pound contender. Ray is ranked sixth.

Ray has a winning streak of

Milwaukee Farm Teams Won Five 1958 Pennants

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Milwaukee Braves talent-rich farm system led the major leagues for the fifth year in a row in winning minor league pennants.

Of the 14 clubs in the organization, five won regular season titles. Three teams finished second, two came in third and fourth. The Braves turned out four minor league champions in each of 1954, 1955 and 1957. They had seven in 1956, the highest in the majors since the Brooklyn Dodgers claimed eight in 1948.

This year's champions were Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in the class B Three-I League; Yakima, Wash., class B Northwest League; Boise, Idaho, a class C Pioneer League; Midland, Tex., class D Sophomore League and Wellsboro, N. Y., class D New York-Pennsylvania League.

Cedar Rapids, Boise, Midland and Yakima went on to win playoffs in their leagues.

Second place finishers were Jacksonville in the class A South Atlantic League; Wichita in the class AAA American Association and McCook in the class D Nebraska State League. Atlanta was third in the class AA Southern Association and Austin fourth in the class AA Texas League.

Harley Lee's Beagle Cops Last Of AKC Field Trials

Local Hound First To Win In Six Years

Lee's Big Myrt Is Best Of 15 Entries; 78 Vie In Four Days

An Allegany county beagle became a winner for the first time in six years when Lee's Big Myrt, owned and handled by Harley Lee, of Cresaptown, was adjudged the best of 15 entries in the 15 inch female class yesterday on the fourth and final day of the tenth annual AKC Licensed Field Trial of the Allegany Beagle Club on the Barton Dairy Farm, McMullen Highway.

The last Allegany county winner to score in an AKC licensed event was George Parker, of Cumberland in 1952. Dr. H. C. Diehl of Frostburg won one of the four events in 1950. In the long series of field trials held here since 1949 most of the honors have gone to hounds from Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

In yesterday's event, Shady Ridge Dixie, owned by D. C. Stone, Cumberland, earned "next best qualified" honors.

A total of 78 hounds were judged by C. E. "Abe" Martin, New Castle, Pa., and John Folk, Baltimore, during the four days of competition. During the ten years that trials have been conducted by the Allegany Beagle Club a total of 1,033 hounds have been entered in the 40 events.

It was announced yesterday that Angel VI, winner in the 13 inch female class on Sunday, had earned her championship points here. Angel VI is owned by Leonard Smeltzer, of Independence, Ohio, and was handled by Tom Moore, of Port Washington, Ohio.

Yesterday's results:
1. Lee's Big Myrt, owned by Harley Lee, Cresaptown.
2. Royal Star III, owned by David R. Barr, Dover, Ohio, and handled by Tom Moore, Port Washington, Ohio.
3. Wilmar Stormie, owned by Mrs. Panel Holdsworth, Indiana, Pa.
4. Scott's Lady Speed, owned by Homer Morris, Roscoe, Pa., and handled by Tom Moore.
Next Best Qualified — Shady Ridge Dixie, owned by D. C. Stone, Cumberland.

Fort Hill High School's junior varsity football team kept its record unblemished by racking up its sixth victory at the expense of Beall High School's Jayvees yesterday at Frostburg by the score of 28-6.

The Little Sentinels scored twice in the first period and once in the second and final periods. Manges scored the first td by smashing over from the four.

Later in the first period Murphy blocked Hager's punt on the Beall 37 and Houser scooped up the ball and ran for the score. Clem slammed over from the four in the second stanza. In the final quarter, Manges passed to Peck Lakes Naval Training Center.

CRESAPTOWN BEAGLE SCORES—Harley Lee, of Cresaptown, became the first Allegany County winner in six years of AKC Licensed Trials held by the Allegany Beagle Club when Lee's Big Myrt was judged the best of fifteen 15-inch female hounds yesterday as the tenth annual event drew to a close on the Barton Dairy Farm. Lee and his winning Beagle are shown in the center of the above picture. Other winners shown are: Angel VI, 13 inch female, left, owned by Leonard Smeltzer, Independence, Ohio, and handled by Tom Moore, Post Washington, Ohio, and Town and Country Bulo, 13 inch male, right, owned by Joe DeBover, South Bend, Ohio, and also handled by Moore. Louis Stutcher, secretary of the Allegany Beagle Club, is shown with Town and Country Bulo. Angel VI earned her championship points here. A total of 78 hounds were judged in four days.

Jordan, Ortega Clash Tonight

Welterweight Bout Set For West Coast

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Top-ranking contender Don Jordan engages Gaspar Ortega in a 12-round nationally-televised bout Wednesday night expected to earn the winner a shot at the welterweight championship.

Jordan, 24, Los Angeles, is favored to repeat another TV win over the Mexican boxer when the two meet in the ball room of the Lafayette Hotel.

Los Angeles promoter George Parnassus insists he has assurance that the winner will meet title-holder Virgil Akins in Los Angeles Dec. 5.

Other interested parties won't commit themselves that far, but they agree that it is likely the winner will get a title shot.

Jordan has 40 wins in 51 starts, perhaps the most impressive of which was his decision over then top-ranking contender Isaac Logart in Los Angeles last summer.

Ortega, in and out as a contender, has a mark of 44 wins—19 by knockouts—in his 58 bouts.

Arizona is known as the "Grand Canyon state."

Chicago's Ernie Banks Is Voted N.L. Player Of The Year

Cub Player Receives 22 Of 24 Votes

Belted 47 Homers, Batted In 129 Runs With .313 Average

By FRED DOWN
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Ernie Banks, who set an all-time home run record for shortstops and sparked the Chicago Cubs to a surprising sixth-place finish, is the United Press International's 1958 National League Player of the Year.

The 27-year-old native of Dallas, Tex., was acclaimed the league's No. 1 player by an overwhelming margin in the voting of a 24-man UPI board of experts, three from each city in the league. Banks received 22 of a possible 24 votes with one each going to second baseman Bill Mazeroski of the Pittsburgh Pirates and pitcher Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves.

Banks, who didn't take up baseball seriously until he was 17 years old, has long been recognized as one of the National League's top shortstops but 1958 was by all standards his finest. In addition to fielding his position brilliantly, the 180-pound Negro batted .313, set a major league mark for shortstops by hitting 47 homers and led the league with 129 runs batted in.

Played Third Base

The highest honor Banks ever achieved came only a year after it appeared that his career might be ended by a sore throwing arm. Banks was shifted to third base in 1957 because of the ailing wing and did not reestablish himself as the Cubs' shortstop until the spring of 1958.

Ernie's big league story started back in 1953 when pitcher Connie Johnson, then with the Chicago White Sox and now with the Baltimore Orioles, advised Paul Richards to acquire the 22-year-old Kansas City Monarch infielder. But before Richards could act, Banks already was picked up by the Cubs on the recommendation of Tom Gordon, business manager of the Cubs' farm club at Macon, Ga.

Banks joined the Cubs, along with second baseman Gene Baker, in the final weeks of the 1953 season and immediately demonstrated both his defensive and offensive ability. He hit .314, connected for two homers and knocked in six runs in a mere 10 games. Ernie hit 275 with 19 homers in 1954 and then came through in

Army, Notre Dame, Iowa And Ohio State Favored

TEXAS, Rice Rated Even; West Virginia Choice Over Tech

NEW YORK (UPI) — Army, Ohio State, Iowa and Notre Dame were made the favorites by the oddsmakers Tuesday to win the four leading games on Saturday's college football schedule.

Army, the nation's No. 1 team, was a seven-point choice over Pitt for the top Eastern game to be played at Pittsburgh. The game will be televised by NBC through out the East.

Ohio State, ranked second to Army nationally, was picked by six points over Wisconsin for their Big Ten headline at Columbus, Ohio; Notre Dame was a slim two-point favorite over Purdue at South Bend, Ind., and Iowa was a 10-point choice to knock Northwestern out of the unbeaten ranks at Iowa City. Notre Dame-Purdue will be televised in the Midwest.

Southwest-Baylor 7 over Texas A and M.

Far West—Oregon State 10 over Washington; UCLA 7 over Stanford; Washington State 7 over Southern California.

Teams Rated Even

In the Southwest's top game, Texas and Rice were rated even for their night meeting at Houston which will play a major role in deciding the conference championship and the Cotton Bowl bid.

There was one other even game on this week's card, pitting Georgia Tech and Southern Methodist at Dallas.

Oregon was the choice by two points over California in the Pacific Coast Conference's leading game at Berkeley, Calif.; third-ranked Auburn was picked by 14 over Maryland and fifth-ranked Louisiana State by 13 over Florida in two top Southern attractions, and Princeton was favored by six

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—There's more real drama in the comeback story of lovely Gene Tierney than any Hollywood writer could put into fiction. The pleasant surprise is the news to her many friends and countless fans that Gene will resume her career after an absence of four years in Ibsen's classic, "The Doll's House." This was the very story on which Gene had begun production for the General Electric TV show as the first of their series in 1954. She was forced to abandon it when she became ill.

Now, four years later, Gene has again been asked to star for the G.E. Theatre as Ibsen's "Nora" and she is thrilled at the chance. We'll be applauding her. She returns here the first week in December for the filming at Revenue Productions for producer Harry Tugend.

I often feel that Ernie Kovacs is an acquired taste. I've acquired it, and apparently so has Columbia Studio. They have signed Ernie on a long term contract.

It all happened after "Bell, Book and Candle." Now Columbia will put him in another comedy, "The Wackiest Ship in the Navy," which Arthur Sheekman is preparing for Freddie Kohlmar. This is an original magazine story of several years ago, and it gives Ernie the same kind of zany nonsense for which he has become famous.

Well, you might as well keep your head up and look at the moon. That's what Universal-International is doing with their heartwarming comedy, "Bon Voyage," which they bought some time ago from Random House.

They want Bing Crosby for this delightful story by Marjane and Joseph Hayes, the tale of a family on board a ship on their vacation. The scenes won't be shot until spring, and will be made on an ocean liner.

I had heard that Jane Wyman had been sent the script. They've already sent it to Bing, and he might just do it.

The films - across - the - sea - policy that is beginning to dominate theatre-going in this country seems to me both good and bad. A few years ago, there weren't a hundred theatres in the entire United States that played foreign language films. Today there are more than 500, according to the Theatre Owners of America. The number is growing every day, and the amount of money they earn is a tidy sum—some 50-million dollars.

Of course, we have long taken so much money away from foreign lands with our movies we certainly have no right to kick, and, apparently the theatre owners don't mind what films they play from where, as long as they make money.

But I do find it startling when a theatre owner right in Los Angeles tells me he can make more money from Brigitte Bardot or Alec Guinness than he can with some of our own biggest stars.

I heard a very funny story about producer Al Guzmith and his search for realism. He took his entire cast for "The Beat Generation" on a tour of Beatnik spots and, of all people, Vampira acted as their guide and finally took them to a Santa Monica beach spot where the Beatniks were really "beat."

Who rushed away from the place fast? Not Vampira or any of the actors, but the producer himself!

That reminds me, Zugsmith has signed Dick Contino for this picture and I am very glad because he's been off the screen far too long.

Indian money, known as wampum, consisted mainly of clam shells.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Forgetting Self

"I would like to develop poise and confidence in myself as I am rather shy. Do you think a course in speech, dramatics or dancing would help me? I would appreciate any suggestions."

The above reader letter is just one of a great many asking for help with the same problem. The problem divides into three basic parts. The first is self-improvement to overcome any feeling of inadequacy.

This is a matter of learning how to make the most of your appearance — your face, your hands, your feet and your figure; under the same heading comes learning to choose your clothes, to make the most of your figure, coloring, type and budget. Another facet is posture; grace in movement, especially in walking, standing and sitting;

the acquisition of poise through mastery of the art of relaxing. The second part of a campaign to overcome shyness has to do with learning how to meet people and get along with them graciously. This involves voice control, development of personality for interest, the study of others and how to appeal to them, acquiring breadth in conversational topics, a knowledge of etiquette, customs and manners.

You will gradually become adept in the art of forgetting self and find that you concentrate more and more on the world and people around you. This will lead you naturally on the way to the third step — simply, experience. The more one learns about the world and the more contacts one has with others, the less one's thoughts turn inward and the more to others. When this reaches its maximum, shyness and Opening lead: Spade king.

In today's hand, South, the declarer, was not a tyro. When he ducked the opening lead it was malice, a forethought. However, West proved to be equally adept in constructing a successful countermove.

South opened with one heart and West naturally doubled. North decided to take action immediately and offered a single raise.

South jumped to four hearts and the West knew his opponent would hardly take a flyer vulnerable, he felt constrained to double again. South was quite content and the bidding subsided.

On the king of spades lead East played the 9, and South recognized the danger of a spade ruff if, as it appeared, East had a doubleton.

If dummy had a quick entry he could discard one of his spades on the ace of clubs and thus guard against a ruff.

well (the secretary will say) that'll be different. He probably won't spell out just how it will be different. Just what we would be prepared to do, how far we'd go toward the ultimate war.

The story of the crash of that Russian TU-104 jet the other day brought back a flood of memories of a trip Bill Hearst, Frank Coniff and I took on one like it—if not the same one—a year ago.

It's a good airplane, the TU-104, fast, graceful, comfortable, though it probably would financially break any free enterprise operator who used it as his standard carrier. Aeroflot, the Soviet airline system, is under no compulsion to make money in order to stay in business. Its jet operation is for prestige primarily. What BOAC and Pan American have done over the past couple of weeks was inaugurated by the Russians, in effect, in September of 1956. The TU-104 we rode from Prague to Moscow in stopped there just long enough to gas up and then flew on to Omsk, Irkutsk, and down across Outer Mongolia to Peiping. Routine.

We were three Americans among 70 Communist leaders and delegates from a dozen lands. There were cheers at luncheon when a Latin Communist proposed a toast to Khrushchev and the hammer-and-sickle forever. Only the three of us drank a toast I proposed to the President of the United States. But a number of puzzled Reds uncertainly joined in a toast proposed by Coniff—who offered one "to the president of the National Association of Manufacturers."

They've probably all since been shot.

NEW YORK—People . . . m. places are being lodged by fellow pros . . . planes . . .

Vice President Nixon's campaign for the White House in 1960 appears based on the following philosophy: Use Harry S. Truman as a model of how NOT to run for office but with one exception—win against overwhelming odds as old Harry did in '48.

Nineteen - sixty's campaign promises to offer welcome relief to political buffs who like a good rip-roaring fight. The years with China again.

Dwight David Eisenhower, who abhors politics and sincerely believes it demeans a gentleman to engage in same, have been a steady diet of pabulum to those who pine for the red meat of debate and controversy.

With Nixon and Truman extensively spearheading the rivalry forces, we should have our fill. However, to fulfill those expectations, the vice president must remember that charges of "character assassination" against him are being lodged by fellow pros who are pretty doggone able character assassins themselves. If he tries to fight this one with kid gloves, in his role as the "new Nixon," he's going to get clobbered.

Wonder how Mr. Dulles is going to say it to Chiang Kai-shek? What the secretary of state unquestionably is going to tell the leader of the Nationalist Chinese is that he's not going home to rip-roaring fight. The years with China again.

Instead, he is going to stay on abhors politics and sincerely believes it demeans a gentleman to engage in same, have been a steady diet of pabulum to those who pine for the red meat of debate and controversy.

Cord of Thanks

To our Relatives, Neighbors and Friends who have not personally thanked, we take this means of expressing our sincere appreciation for their kindness to us during the illness and death of my husband and our beloved father, Vernon C. Liller. I also want to thank Rev. and Mrs. Harold Allen for their service and kindness to us in our bereavement. To those who donated cars for the funeral, the pallbearers, the George Funeral Home, and to those who in any manner rendered their services, we are deeply grateful. Mrs. Vernon C. Liller and Family

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our daughter, Brenda Rae Grimes (Twin) who passed away 2 years ago today, Oct. 22, 1956. Not dead to us who loved her, Not lost but gone before, She lives with us in memory, And will forevermore, Sadly missed by Mother and Father, Sisters and Brothers and Grandparents.

Miss Wise To Speak

At Westernport Club

WESTERNPORT — Miss Mary
Wise, County home demonstration agent, will be the principal speaker at the month meeting of the Westernport Homemakers' Club,
Friday at 7:30 p. m. at Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont, according to Mrs. Ernest Wilson, president.

Members of the club will give a report on the Achievement Day meeting held at Cresaptown.

Mrs. Wilson will name a nominating committee to report at the following meeting when the annual election will take place.

Refreshments will be served.
The hostesses will be Mesdames
Howard Michael, Virgil Morrison,
Thomas J. Dolan and Marguerite
Welsh.

Mt. Savage PTA
Sponsors Jamboree

MT. SAVAGE—The Mt. Savage
PTA is sponsoring a jamboree and fun night October 24 at 8
p. m. in the school auditorium.

Some of the attractions will be
Can Can dances, a drill team demonstration, children in dance routines, pantomime, singing and folk songs with guitar accompaniment. The Mt. Savage School band will also play. There will be 23 acts in all and 20 prizes will be given. There will be a small admission charged.

Students will be selling tickets and they may also be purchased at the door on the night of the jamboree.

Frostburg 4-H
Elects Delegate

FROSTBURG — Miss Shirley
Brode was elected by the Frostburg 4-H Club at their meeting this week at the home of Darlene Logue, to represent them at the county achievement program
November 13, at 7:30 p. m., at St.
Mary's Hall, Oldtown Road.

Carol Lewis was elected publicity officer and Shirley Rush, assistant.

Darlene Logue gave a demonstration on how to test color fastness and Mrs. Elsie Morgan demonstrated how to put a zipper in a dress. The club finished their project of making favors for the Miners hospital.

Profit-Taking Leaves Stock Market Irregular

NEW YORK (UPI)—Profit-taking left the stock market a scramble of gains and losses Tuesday. Trading declined sharply for the second straight session.

Gains and losses of a point or more were numerous in the list as the advance which carried industrial stocks to new all-time highs stalled for the second consecutive day.

The market was lower most of the day, although a rally got underway near the close to the accompaniment of late tickers. The late buying lifted prices up from their lows all along the line—sharply in some cases.

The oils featured on the upside among the major groups. A forecast that petroleum demand in the U.S. in the fourth quarter will run some 4 per cent ahead of a year ago helped sentiment in this group.

Kerr-McGee stood out with a gain of 2½ points while Standard Oil of California and Royal Dutch added a point or more. However, Skelly and Socony-Mobil lost around a point each.

Activity centered in the lower-priced issues. Studebaker-Packard led in turnover with 276,600 shares changing hands. The issue lost 1½ to 14½, although finishing above its lows for the day. AVCO was second in the most active list, closing unchanged at 9½.

American Motors, in third place, fell 1½ to 238½.

Chicago Grains
CHICAGO (UPI) — Grain futures prices closed mostly weak to easy today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed off 1/4 to 1/2 cent; corn sold up 1/4 to 1/2 cent; soybeans up 1/4 to 1/2 cent; oats unchanged to 1/4 cent; rye off 1/4 to 1/2 cent; soybeans unchanged to 1/4 cent.

A general selling movement pushed all grain into lower levels as hedge pressure and liquidation increased by the hour in today's market.

Wheat turned weak. A scattered commission house selling and the absence of any export activity punctuated the decline.

Early selling in corn was considered hedging and liquidation. There was a good resting commission house demand on the way down. Later trade brought some elevator house buying. Selling of the September and buying of July deliveries highlighted the market activity.

A moderate commission house selling in oats resulted in easier prices. Cash houses bought December and March contracts. Early soybean firmness somewhat offset in easy ranges as Northwest brokers sold the January delivery and commission houses sold November. Local traders were moderate buyers.

Grains at outside markets were weak to easy. The range:

Local Girl Dies As Car Leaves Road

Carol Cox, 16, Killed; Four Others Injured

A 16-year-old Cumberland girl was killed instantly and four other local teenagers were injured in a one-car accident last night south of Hyndman, Pa.

Dead is Miss Carol Jean Cox, a junior at Fort Hill High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Cox, of 433 Race Street.

Bedford County Coroner Ralph Mickie said the victim died as a result of compound fractures of the skull and neck. She was thrown from the car and died instantly, he said.

None of the four injured persons apparently was in serious condition, attaches at Memorial Hospital said.

The injured

Lester Norris, 18, of Schilling Air Force Base in Kansas, who was admitted suffering from a fractured right arm and other possible injuries.

Joyce Johnson, 17, of 207 Laing Avenue, who sustained a laceration of her forehead and left leg.

Gloria Cramblitt, 15, of 408 East Fourth Street, laceration of her left forearm, admitted for observation, condition satisfactory.

Marjorie Davis, 14, of 510 City View Terrace, who complained of back injuries. She was expected to be admitted. She and Miss Cramblitt were knocked unconscious. The fatal crash occurred about three miles south of Hyndman on Pennsylvania State Route 96, on Clites Curve.

The driver was traveling south on the highway when he lost control of the car. The auto was reported to have hit an embankment and later careened about 100 feet down into a gully, turning over several times and landing on its wheels.

3 Ambulances Called

The four injured persons were taken to the local hospital in ambulances of the Hyndman Volunteer Fire Company and the Zeigler Funeral Home in Hyndman. The Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company ambulance also was called.

An investigation will be continued by the coroner and state police.

A native of Cumberland, the victim was born on June 20, 1942. Surviving besides her parents are a brother, Terry Lee, at home; two half brothers, James R. and Walter F. Cox, both at home.

The body will be taken to the Scarpelli Funeral Home.

Youth Group Has Election

George Henderson, former chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, was elected chairman of the Allegany County Youth Commission at a meeting last night at the office of the Department of Employment Security.

Edward McPartland was elected vice chairman. Mrs. Jennie J. Grahame, secretary, and John Jeffries, treasurer.

Fourteen adult directors and six student directors also were elected.

Adult directors are George Kyle, Rev. William R. Snyder, Mrs. Lester McGill, Rev. Arthur W. Bastress, Willis V. Smith, Earle Bracey, Charles Wendt, Hubert Radcliffe, F. Patrick Alender, Robert A. Mathews, Morris Baron, Mrs. Edward L. Kolb, Rev. Paul Maynard and Mrs. William C. VanNewkirk.

Student directors are Mary Beth Sheehy, Earlene Humbert, Mrs. Marsha Adams, William Hahn Jr., James Knight and Margery Nicklin.

Men Of LaSalle Event Thursday

A record attendance is anticipated at the father-and-son meeting of the Men of LaSalle tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at Carroll Hall, Paul G. Stakem, club president, announced last night.

The faculty of LaSalle will be on hand to greet the fathers and sons. Mr. Stakem said, and guests of honor will be head football coach Norman Geatz and his assistant, Don Harden. An effort is being made to show movies of a recent LaSalle football game. Refreshments will be served.

Men of LaSalle is an organization dedicated to the scholastic, athletic and dramatic programs of the North Centre Street School. In addition to Mr. Stakem, officers of the men's club are Joseph F. Divico, vice president; John C. Baar, secretary; Joseph E. Mackert, treasurer, and Brother G. Thomas, moderator. The club reported its membership has more than doubled in the past two months.

Fire Ruins Large Barn Near Barton

A large barn on Jackson Mountain between Lonaconing and Barton was destroyed last night by a fire which was battled by three volunteer fire companies of the Georges Creek section. No one was reported injured.

The barn, firemen reported was on the Nelson Ward farm and was enveloped by flames when they arrived on the scene.

Firemen were hampered by the lack of water on the farm, although they did draw water from a small livestock pond which had been built by the owner.

The farmer's home, a one-story frame house, located about 60 feet away, was threatened by the flames. Water was trained on the home to keep it from catching fire.

Lonaconing received a call about 7 p. m. Shortly afterward Barton was alerted. Volunteers of that company called Midland volunteers by radio.

Some 40 volunteers answered the call. They had to travel about three miles up the side of the mountain from State Route 56.

The one-story barn, recently filled with hay, measured about 40 feet by 40 feet. Barton answered with its tank truck and pumper, and Midland answered with its tank truck and pumper. Lonaconing responded with its pumper.

The firemen were out over two hours.

Jury Upholds Drunk Driving Conviction

A Allegany County Circuit Court jury deliberated one hour and 15 minutes late yesterday afternoon before finding a Washington, D. C., motorist guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Kenneth Harry Hamilton of Washington was convicted May 1 by Magistrate Morris Baron and was fined $150 and court costs. After paying the fine, Hamilton decided to appeal to Circuit Court. Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris imposed the same fine.

Two city police officers who arrested Hamilton in front of the Algonquin Hotel about 8:15 a. m. Sunday, April 27, were the only witnesses called by Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason.

Officer Frank R. Bohn testified that he was driving along Baltimore Street toward the West Side on April 27 when he observed an automobile with District of Columbia license plates being driven very slowly in the same direction.

He saw two men in the car, and when the vehicle stopped in front of the Algonquin Hotel after negotiating the temporary bridge across Wills Creek, a man whom he identified as Hamilton got out on the driver's side of the car.

Hamilton was arrested a few minutes later when he and his companion came out of the hotel in a staggering condition.

Officer Donald Boggs, the other witness, said he was directing traffic at the end of the temporary bridge when this slow-moving vehicle crossed the bridge and stopped at the hotel. He could not say which man was driving but said both staggered and did not talk plainly when they came from the hotel.

Defense Attorney Edward J. Ryan called no witnesses.

Abe J. Felgus was foreman of the jury of eight men and four women which deliberated the case.

Area Methodists Arrange Rally

Methodist Young Adults from the Cumberland Sub-District, which embraces all of Allegany County and nearby portions of West Virginia and Pennsylvania, are planning to attend a Halloween rally at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the Mt. Savage Methodist Church.

Vincent M. Thompson, a member of the Fairview Avenue Methodist Church and president of the MYA, said that more than 30 are expected for the rally.

Participants are encouraged to wear masquerade costumes are optional. There will be games and refreshments.

The Methodist Young Adults have a special activity every two months. The last was a corn roast at Constitution Park in August.

Wagner To Speak At COPE Meeting

Martin Wagner, a member of AFL-CIO Speaker Bureau, will address the Western Maryland COPE at a meeting today at 7:30 p. m. in COPE campaign headquarters, 158 North Mechanic Street.

Joseph B. Burke, associate director of the Area Committee on Political Education unit, urged all locals of the area to send representatives.

Plans will be discussed for COPE's part in the November 4 election, Mr. Burke said.

Md.-W.Va. Will Make Repairs To Wiley Ford Bridge

Maryland and West Virginia are sharing the cost of repairing the Wiley Ford Bridge, Patrick C. Graney, West Virginia SRC commissioner, reported here last night.

Mr. Graney, with Col. George E. White, assistant commissioner and SRC engineer, and Robert Hanna, business manager for the SRC, arrived at the Cumberland Municipal Airport early last night to join a Republican campaign rally in Keyser. They attended a meeting in Martinsburg yesterday and are scheduled to be in Clarksburg today.

Mr. Graney said plans for the repair program have been approved by both commissions and that it was his understanding that the commissions will proceed with the repairs.

Demos Rally Tonight In Mt. Savage

County Caravans To Meet At VFW

Democratic candidates continue their swing around Allegany County this evening when they will attend a rally in Mt. Savage. The affair which will begin at 8 p. m. will be held at the home of Old Rail Post 6025, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Thomas Stephens is rally chairman. He said that the various county candidates will give brief talks, and that talks on the state candidates will be given by Simon F. Reilly, William C. Walsh and Julius E. Schindler.

Caravans will attend from Westernport, Barton, Lonaconing, Frostburg and Cumberland. Local Democrats and members of the party of the Georges Creek communities who wish to attend are asked to contact their headquarters for transportation.

A program of entertainment is being planned and there will be refreshments, Mr. Stephens said. Prior to the 1956 election, over 250 persons turned out for the rally in Mt. Savage and old timers in politics said it was one of the best rallies held in that community.

A large delegation from throughout the county is expected this evening, he added. On Thursday at 8 p. m. another rally will be held in the Westernport Tea Room.

A combined meeting for Eckhart, Shaft, Zihlman and Frostburg is scheduled next Monday at the American Legion Home in Frostburg. The affair will begin at 8 p. m.

Baltimore Police Nab Local Boy Who Fled School

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police making their nightly checks of teen-age drivers landed more than they expected to — a pair of youths who had escaped a few hours earlier from the Maryland Training School.

Northwest District police said the youths were George W. McKeldin, 16, of Baltimore, and Sam Brown, 17, of Cumberland. The McKeldin boy was reported by police and his family to be a nephew of Gov. McKeldin.

The pair left their cottage on the training school grounds north of here about 7 p. m. Monday night. Police stopped them during a routine check the city launched in recent months to curb the stolen car racket.

One of McKeldin's hands was bleeding at the time of the post-midnight arrest, an injury he said he incurred while running from the training school. He was taken to Union Memorial Hospital, where he was under police guard.

Local Man Re-enlists In Navy Four Years

Hospitalman 1C William J. Petit, of Ridgeley, USNR-R (TAR), medical representative of the inspector-instructor staff of the Sixth Infantry Company USMCR, re-enlisted for a period of four years.

He was sworn in by Lt. Cmdr. Richard L. Underwood, USN, commanding officer of the local Navy and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center. In July 1946 he enlisted in New York and received basic training at Bainbridge. After being stationed at a number of Hospital Corps Schools he was on duty on the Destroyer Tender (Arcadia) before being sent here.

Buck Party Friday At K Of C Home

A buck party will be held on Friday evening at the home of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus.

Al Martin and Mickey Clark, co-chairmen, said the affair will be held from 9:30 p. m. until midnight. It will follow the LaSalle-Allegany football game at Fort Hill Stadium.

Proceeds will go to the K of C softball teams in the city league and rocking chair league. Dance music will be provided. Tickets are available at the door or may be purchased from team members.

Liquor Store Licensees Get Fine Of $1,000

Jurors Return Guilty Verdict

Immediately after an Allegany County Circuit Court jury found the holders of the liquor license at the Cumberland Liquor Store, 419 Henderson Avenue, guilty of selling and delivering alcoholic beverages to five minor boys, Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday afternoon levied a $1,000 fine upon them.

Holders of the liquor license are Justin Grabenstein, Mary Carolan and Francis Shriver.

Ironically, yesterday's fine was levied exactly one year to the day after Judge Harris had fined the same liquor store license holders $1,000—two $500 fines—on charges of selling to minors.

The charge was placed against the Liquor Store operators after an investigation of a Central Avenue party May 3 when the five youths allegedly ordered three cases of beer from the store by telephone.

Police Officer Clarence Valentine was the last of seven state witnesses called to testify by State's Attorney James S. Getty and his assistant, Donald W. Mason. Previously heard were the five boys and the father of one in whose home the party occurred. The father testified that he and his wife were away on May 3 and found beer bottles all over the house the next day when they returned home.

Officer Valentine testified that he was unable to get into the house and found two youths "passed out" when he looked in the window. All five eventually were taken into custody.

Milton Gerson, defense attorney, called six witnesses to testify in an attempt to show that beer is often stolen off trucks and that there was no record in the store's delivery record book of a delivery having been made at the Central Avenue address.

The defense witnesses called were Morris W. Nicholas, a clerk at the store; Mr. Shriver, a clerk as well as one of the licensees; Mrs. Carolan, William Bernard, a beer truck driver; John Joseph Wilson, also a beer truck driver; Edward J. Mattingly a member of the jury panel who also is a beer distributor, and Detective Lt. James E. Van.

A warrant charging the liquor store license holders with the liquor law violation was issued June 17. The arrest was made June 23. When the case was called in Trial Magistrates Court October 17, the defendants requested a jury trial, and as a result the case was moved to Circuit Court.

Harry J. Biggs of Westernport was foreman of the jury of seven men and five women which deliberated about one hour and 30 minutes before returning its verdict.

PSC Hearing On Bus Line Franchise Set

A Public Service Commission hearing for the transfer of the local bus franchise to the Queen City Bus Lines Inc. will be conducted at 2 p. m. Wednesday, October 29, in Baltimore.

The new corporation, formed by the bus drivers, submitted a bid of $7,500 for the 23 buses, materials and supplies of the Cumberland Transit Lines in Allegany County Circuit Court October 17. At that time, W. Earle Cobey, attorney for the new corporation, obtained permission from the PSC to continue temporary operation of the buses under the existing franchise with the understanding that a hearing for a permanent franchise will be held before October 31.

The ownership transfer is contingent upon approval of the franchise change by the PSC.

Court-appointed receivers for the Cumberland Transit Lines are holding funds in escrow and the deal will not be finalized until after the hearing.

Lawrence L. Grim, secretary of the Queen City Bus Lines, Inc., last night reminded the public that the bus schedules cannot be changed until a new franchise is obtained.

Bedford Valley Man Has Top Butterfat Producers

Two cows belonging to Lloyd Nave, of Bedford Valley, Pa., were the top butterfat producers in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association during September.

Lilly, a grade Holstein, produced 86 pounds of butterfat from 2,400 pounds of milk, and was number one producer. Libby, artificial grade Holstein, was in second place by producing 80 pounds of butterfat from 2,060 pounds of milk.

Third top producing cow, according to Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, supervisors of the association, is owned by John T. Mason of Cresapstown. Veeman, artificial registered Hol-

Arrives For GOP Rally

West Virginia Governor Cecil H. Underwood is greeted by James A. Dixon, Mineral County GOP chairman, as he arrived last night at the Cumberland Municipal Airport. Also present to greet Governor Underwood, who was the principal speaker at the Republican rally held in Keyser, is Del. Jo Bill Kessel, Keyser. It was the governor's first visit to Keyser since his election.

Westernport GOP Rally Set Tonight

Rep. Hyde Will Deliver Talk

Another Republican rally will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the American Legion Home in Westernport.

A feature attraction will be a visit by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, who is expected to arrive late after first attending a dinner at Centre Street Methodist Church in Cumberland. He will make the final speech of the evening.

The rally will open with a word of welcome from Lonnie Marsh Jr., commander of the Westernport post.

Jack I. Mullan, Westernport attorney and substitute trial magistrate, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Introductions will begin with the State Central Committee, headed by J. Glenn Beall Jr. Members of the campaign committee will be introduced too, along with candidates who face no opposition in the November 4 general election.

Estel C. Kelley, a former member of the House of Delegates now serving on the Allegany County Board of Alcohol Beverage License Commissioners, will speak on behalf of the six GOP candidates for the House of Delegates. Besides himself they include Thomas N. Berry, Noel Speir Cook, Fred B. Driscoll, Lester B. Reed and David J. Williams.

Simon W. Green will speak on behalf of himself and the two other Republican candidates for county commissioner. They are James Orr and William A. Wilson. Then Sheriff Edward R. Muir will address the rally on his own behalf.

Mrs. Samuel M. Berry of Westernport, whose late husband was appointed to the House of Delegates but died before he could serve in Annapolis, will endorse the candidacies of the state-wide GOP nominees. They included U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall for re-election; General James Patrick Devereux, for Governor; John A. Derr, for comptroller, and Robert A. Wallace, for attorney-general.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the rally.

Scottish Rite Will Put On 14th Degree

The Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite will put on the full 14th Degree at a meeting today at 8:15 p. m. in the Masonic Temple here.

James I. Ewing, 32d Degree K. C. C. H., from the Frederick Lodge of Perfection and a member of the Chesapeake Consistory, will be the presiding officer in place of A. Wayne Reed, deputy grand master of Masons in Maryland.

26 Counties Attend GOP Nixon Dinner

Some 26 Allegany County residents attended the $100-a-plate dinner last night in Pikesville, where they heard an address by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

On that basis, Allegany County apparently was responsible for a $2,600 contribution to the Republican cause.

Listed as having attended from here were Edmund S. Burke, Robert E. Moore, Woodward D. Pealer, Douglas R. Bowie, George L. Buchanan, State Senator Charles M. See, Del. Lester B. Reed, J. Wallace Close, Ernest B. Treat, Alvin H. Wilson, W. Bruce Douglas, Chauncey M. Sanner, Anton Squillari, J. Walker Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis J. Orr, Helen Winebrenner, Raymond Hunt, Kay Mullaney, Dr. C. N. Foote Jr., J. Glenn Beall Jr., Woodrow W. Gurley, Donald W. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Speir Cook and William E. "Scotty" Orr Jr.

City's Tax Collections Up From 1957

Collections on 1958 taxes total $1,017,370.77, slightly ahead of last year, according to Finance Commissioner Mrs. Lucile Roeder.

She said the total reached Monday at 5 p. m. represents 83 1/2 per cent of the tax levy.

Last year the city had collected $1,001,070 on the last day before interest payments began for 82.9 per cent of the total tax levy.

Actually, the figure for the close of business is some thousands more than the $1,017,370 mark, since this sum does not include tax payments made by mail up to midnight.

Taxes were still coming in at a good clip yesterday. They were subject to one per cent interest. This interest rate will apply to all taxes paid through November 18.

Income and outgo of the City of Cumberland was about equal during the first quarter, according to a report on the condition of the levy, issued yesterday by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

Collections on September 30 totaled $456,945.44, and this represents 23.99 per cent of the $1,905,120 levy.

During the first three months of the fiscal year, the various city departments spent $368,845.67, representing 23.62 per cent of the $1,561,144 appropriated for city operations. Far for the three months is 25 per cent.

Farm Bureau To Meet November 11

The annual membership meeting of the Allegany Farm Bureau will be held November 11 at the LaVale fire hall, beginning at 7:30.

At that time officers for the coming year will be elected. The nominating committee consists of Ivan Wilson, Edgar Matthews and Ralph Ferguson. The members of the refreshment committee are W. H. Johnson, Mrs. Edgar Matthews and Robert Heavner.

Final plans for the meeting will be formulated at the board meeting, which will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Court House.

LaVale Firemen Halt Brush Fire

LaVale Volunteer Fire Company extinguished a brush fire in the Locust Grove area yesterday afternoon. According to Fire Chief James H. Loar, 45 men responded and damage was limited to a small area of brush on the side of Wills Mountain. He said less than half an acre was burned over.

Underwood Says GOP Is Stronger

West Virginia No Democrat Cinch, Says Governor

West Virginia Governor Cecil H. Underwood told a Mineral County Republican rally in Keyser last night that the Republican party is much stronger than it was in 1956.

Speaking to some 1,000 enthusiastic Mineral County citizens in the Keyser High School auditorium, Gov. Underwood said a host of political writers has been descending upon the state and "writing us off as a Democratic cinch."

These people, he declared, said the same thing in 1956 and today they are retracting some of their claims as Republicans gain strength everywhere.

The Governor's address was enthusiastically received, and cries of "Yes Sir" and "That's It" were heard from the audience at several points in his address. "The only thing that can defeat the Republican Party in West Virginia," he said, "is ourselves. We must carry the same fight to the polls that we carried in 1956."

The party, he said, enters the November 4 election with the same goals and the same high ideals, but today is in much better shape.

In Good Shape

In 1956, he said, the party owed six months back rent on the GOP headquarters and was $1,500 behind scratch.

Today, the party in West Virginia has two senators, a governor, many appointees and many thousands of loyal workers.

Gov. Underwood said his administration is encountering opposition from all parts of the Democratic Party.

Auditor Edgar Simms, he said, is refusing to pay state employees at the end of this month. This, he said, is being done to keep state employees waiting at home for their pay over election day, adding:

"I tell you, Auditor Simms may find himself in court on election day."

Cites Demo Sniping

Gov. Underwood reported $1,713,000 has been spent on Mineral County roads during his administration.

Much more would have been accomplished, he said, had not an administration road program been killed. The plan was not defeated by the Legislature but was voted down by a Democratic caucus which met behind closed doors, he said.

He displayed plans for the road program and pointed out it calls for the relocation of Route 50 across the state.

The people, he said, will judge the Republican Party in West Virginia for "what we were able to do in spite of" a Democratic dominated Board of Public Works and House and Senate.
